A Country Lane at Sunset

Full many a furlong onward runs
 A lane in graceful, sinuous lines,
 Out-reaching tow'rd the westering sun's
 Resplendent bank where he reclines.

With over-arching tree and vine
 This royal road is brightly spanned,
 And bordered with a glowing line—
 A golden-rod and sumac strand.

The stony pave that beds the way,
 All swathed in light of ev'ning sun,
 Transformed to gold at close of day,
 Is a kingly road to travel on.

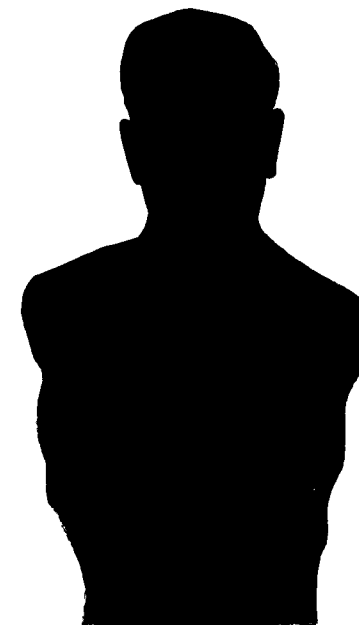

Fair emblem of the gleaming path
 Whose course beyond the golden bars
 Bright promise for the future hath
 Whose faith o'erleaps the stars.

The timid quail on whirring wing
 Flies onward at our coy approach,
 And skittish rabbits deftly spring
 As we upon their lair encroach.

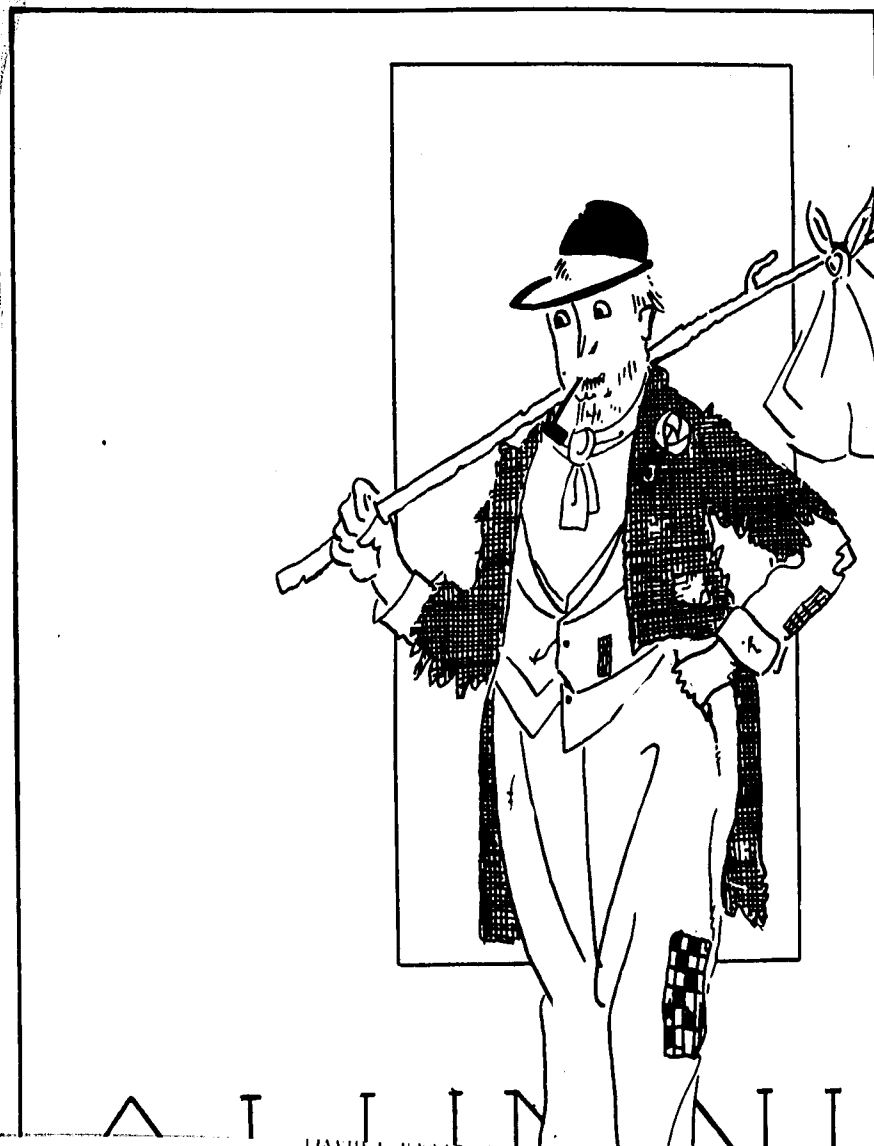

The cawing crow in ev'ning glow—
 A flash of darkness in the light—
 Does not disturb our faith. We know
 That realms of hope are beyond the night.

And so this old man, toiling on
 Thro' glowing ways, else fraught with gloom,
 Finds courage e'er to fix his eyes
 Upon the radiant heights that loom
 Beyond the gates of Paradise,
 In the lane transformed by th' ev'ning sun.

THE ALUMNI GROUP

FRANK H. ATWOOD, President, Carrollton, Mo.

JOHN E. DAVIS, Secretary, Liberty, Mo.

The Alumni Association is composed of graduates of William Jewell College and now numbers approximately twelve hundred members. Alumni Clubs have been established in Kansas City, St. Joseph and Chicago, Illinois. The purpose of the organization is expressed in its motto, "A Greater William Jewell." The business meeting of the Association is held annually in Liberty at the Commencement season. One of the most recent activities of the Alumni was the presentation of five thousand dollars as a memorial gift to Dr. J. P. Greene, President-Emeritus of the College.

Our New President

BORN in South Wales, 1875; educated in his early years in the primary schools of his native land—later, in the schools of Carroll county, Missouri. At the age of twenty years, impelled by the conviction that he could best serve the Master, to whose cause as a very young man he had pledged to consecrate his life as a preacher of the Gospel, he entered William Jewell College, from which he graduated with honor in 1900. For one year of special study he received the Master's Degree and then spent four years in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky, gaining from this noted institution the Degree of Doctor of Theology.

Thus, commencing his life as a sturdy Welshman, he entered upon his life work, not having lost his native sturdiness, but reconstructed upon broader lines as a vigorous product of the Middle West.

Near the close of his college life he took to wife Miss Eva Lewis, also of Welsh extraction—a sweetly attractive and lovely young woman, who, through her gentle influence, has greatly aided him in rising to the eminence that his native abilities gave him the power to achieve.

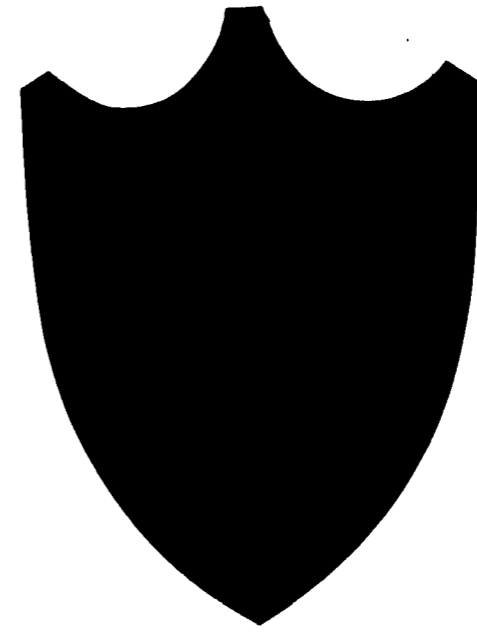

During his entire college course he was the nonresident pastor of churches in Central Missouri; and, though devoting his superb intellectual energies to the completion of the exacting course of study required by the Theological Seminary of those who aspire to the honor of the Doctorate, he continued thus to minister to appreciative congregations in regions contiguous to the Seminary at Louisville. He so gained the approval of the Faculty of the Seminary by his scholastic attainments and evident general ability that, in the words of a prominent member of this scholarly body, "he was considered, in every way, the leading student of the Seminary."

His only resident pastorate was the short incumbency as spiritual leader of West Park Church, St. Louis, Mo. From this office he was called to the deanship of the School of Theology of William Jewell College. To this nascent Seminary he gave a theological and scholastic standing that gave promise of a great Missouri Theological Seminary, but this dream vanished when, after several years' effort, the wisdom of those in authority led them to discontinue their efforts to establish a seminary and continue to provide only elementary courses in the Bible as a simple, but thorough, preparation of intending preachers to gain a stable foundation for their future work elsewhere.

As Dr. Greene approached his seventy years of age, over twenty-five years of which had been spent in conducting the scholastic affairs of the College, he felt that the time had come when he ought to be released from the exacting responsibilities of the presidency, and so advised the Board of Trustees. They reluctantly began to consider the impending subject of a successor, and their judgment, after due consideration, led them unanimously to choose for this office the gifted Dean of the School of Theology, Dr. David Jones Evans, with the result that at their meeting in 1920 they elected him President of William Jewell College.

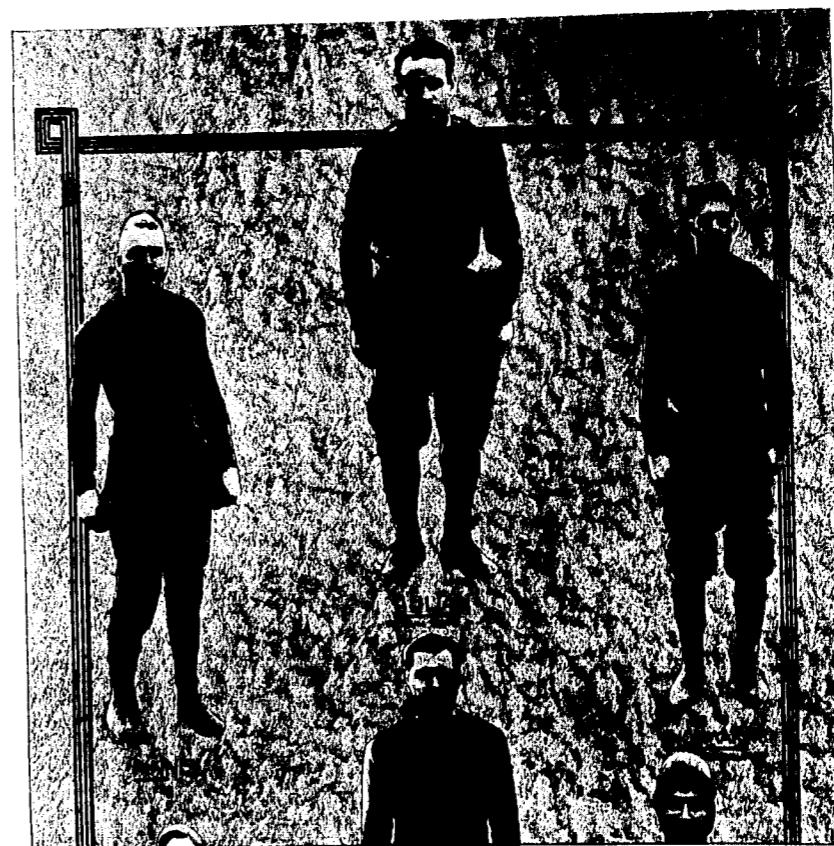

In keeping with the disposition of the college to avoid anything that is especially spectacular, the change of leadership, though fraught with intense responsibilities, was effected with the "Jeffersonian simplicity" which had characterized every act of the outgoing President during his entire administration, and not a wheel was stopped nor a jostle felt when the great change was made. A few months later a hastily planned and delightfully simple ceremony of the Inauguration of the new President was conducted, and the world was informed, as the world already knew, that the much-loved and honored President had retired from office, and one of his "boys," Dr. David Jones Evans, had succeeded him. God bless the Old President, and may the new President live forever!

THIS year rounds out Coach Bowles ninth year at Jewell as coach, and from many points of view this has been the most successful year of all. With rather dark prospects for a successful football season, "Dad" set to work to build a formidable fighting machine out of practically raw material. How well he succeeded in this difficult task may be judged from the fact that Jewell shares the state championship honors with the Rolla School of Mines and Warrensburg State Normal. His percentage of championship is greater than that of any other coach in the M. I. A. A.

J. A. (Doc) Reilly, Athletic Director of the Kansas City Athletic Club, became a member of the coaching staff in October, and he soon made his presence known by the way the Big Red Team dealt with its adversaries.

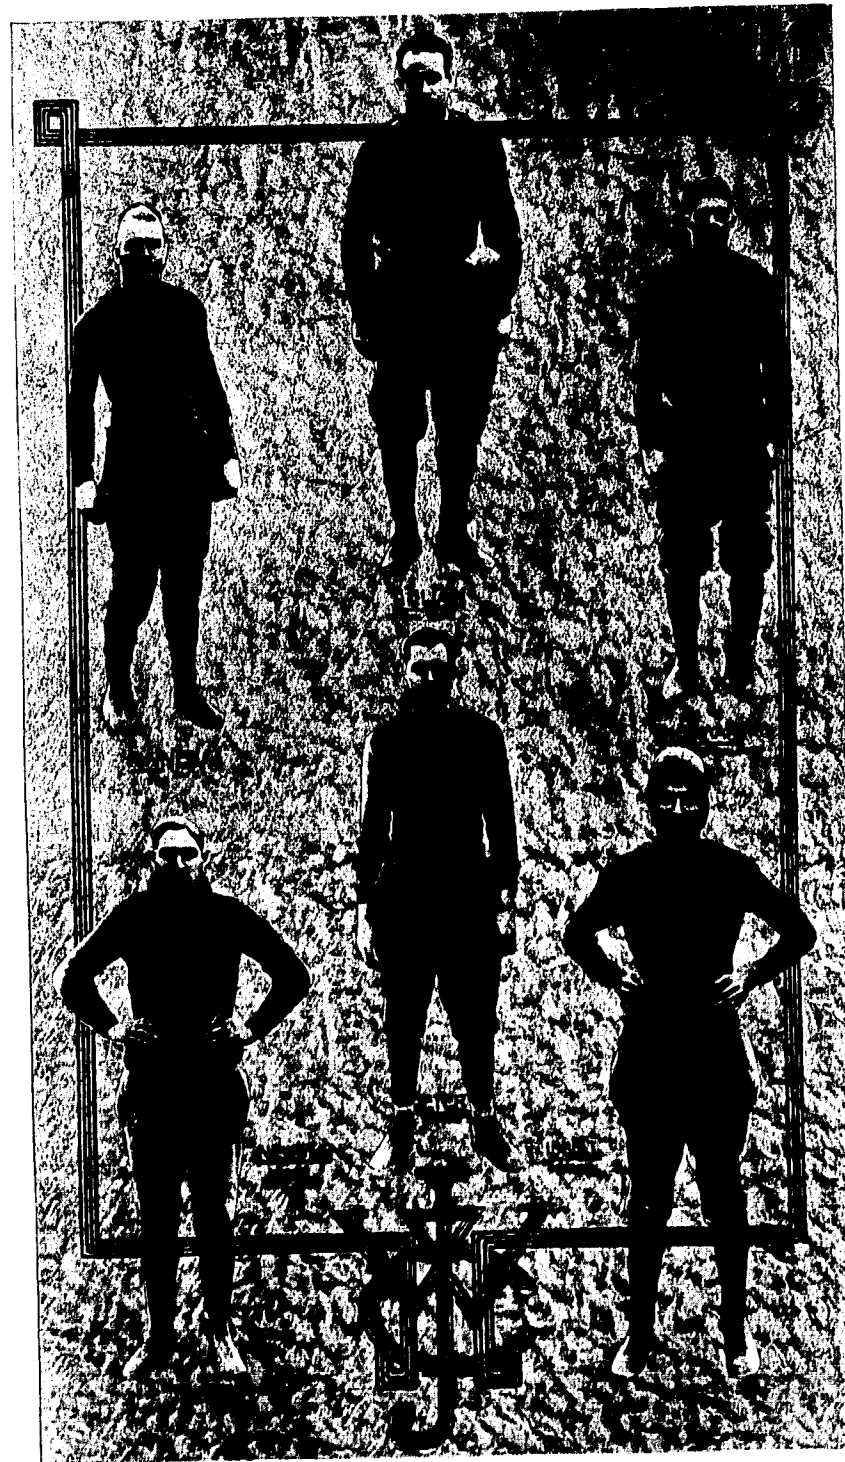

R. H. Moorman, Class of '12, contributed largely to Jewell victories this year. "Stude" is Assistant Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kansas City, but still maintains his interest in football.

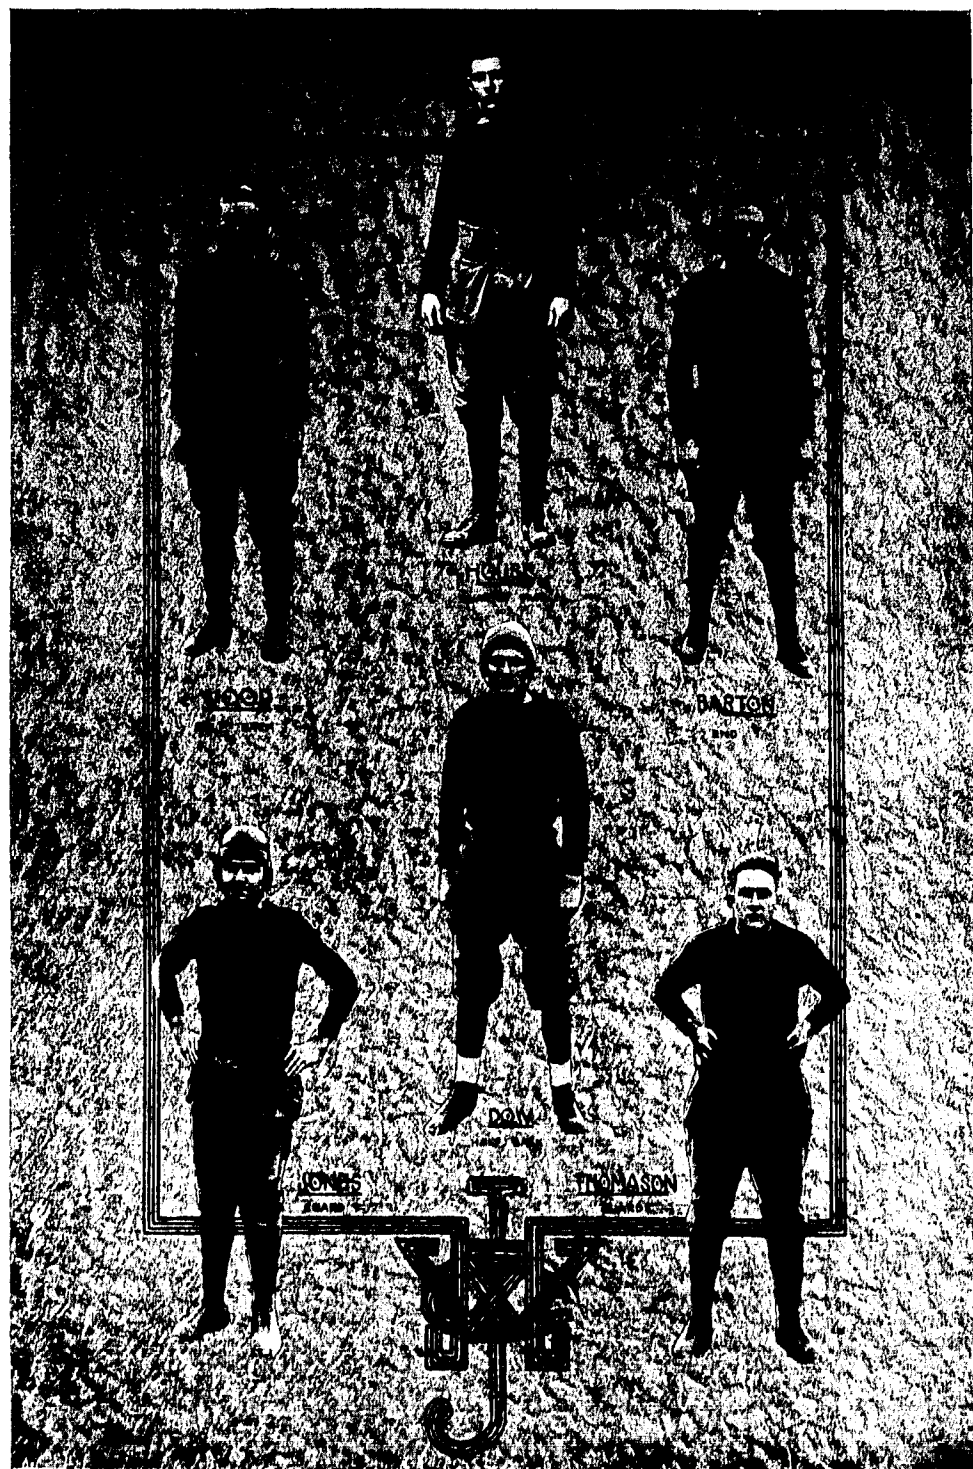

"Parson" Hampton, one of the best linesmen that ever donned a Cardinal jersey, was called upon to pilot the "scrubs." On account of having already played four years, he was ineligible for conference games, but he rendered as great a service in coaching the second team as did any man who played.

JEWELL 0. BAKER UNIVERSITY 7.

"Dad" wanted to test out the crimson eleven, and so he took them out to Baldwin, Kan., the camp of the Bakerites. Neither team could score in the first half, although this period was played deep into the Methodist territory, and at one time the ball was on the one-foot line, but the Cardinals lacked the scoring punch. In the third quarter, Baker blocked a Jewell punt, and fell on the ball back of the goal line. The Bowlesters easily outplayed their heavier opponents, but the boys from the Sand Storm State had the advantage in the breaks.

JEWELL 21. MISSOURI VALLEY 0.

In the opening M. I. A. A. battle staged at Marshall, with Missouri Valley playing one of the leading parts of the four act drama, the Jewells romped over Henry Godfriaux's charges to the tune of 21 to 0. "Pug" Wood showed at his best, carrying the oval over for two touchdowns, and Shoemaker smashed through for a third. Julian booted the ball between the cross bars each time. The Missouri Valley eleven was coached by Henry Godfriaux, a graduate of William Jewell and a brother-in-law of our own "Dad" Bowles. So the little family feud was settled by Henry having to take off his hat to his Alma Mater.

JEWELL 0. TARKIO 0.

In the opening home game of the season, the Tarkio eleven upset all dope and held the Bowles-Reilly team to a scoreless tie. The game was a poor exhibition of football, and fumbles and penalties were numerous on both sides. On account of a rain the night before, the field was heavy making line smashes impossible. A punting dual between Isbell of Jewell and McCoy of Tarkio, resulted in favor of the former. The Cardinals made five first downs to Tarkio's two. Jeter played a stellar game for Jewell.

JEWELL 0. DRURY 21.

The Bowles-Reilly team journeyed down to Springfield, with the intention of taming the Drury Panthers, but Coach Pritchard's team sprung a surprise by walloping the Home Boys, 21 to 0. The scoring was all in the first period, the other three stanzas being sung without either team making a discord. The Cardinals held the Panthers and the Panthers held the Cardinals. That's the whole story.

JEWELL 21. CENTRAL 0.

Showing a complete reversal of form, the Bowles-Reilly warriors plucked twenty feathers from that Central Eagle and sent him back to Fayette, humiliated and humbled. The team from Dr. Baskett's school was unable to head off the Jewells, and soon after the first quarter was whistled in, John Dow broke away for a forty-yard run and dashed over for the first touch down. In the third quarter, Shoemaker smashed his way through the Eagle defense and registered the second touchdown. The last scoring was rung up in the fourth quarter when, by a series of line smashes, Julian went over the final chalk line. Twelve first downs were made by Dr. Greene's "boys," while the Baskett team gained two.

JEWELL 14. SPRINGFIELD TEACHERS 0.

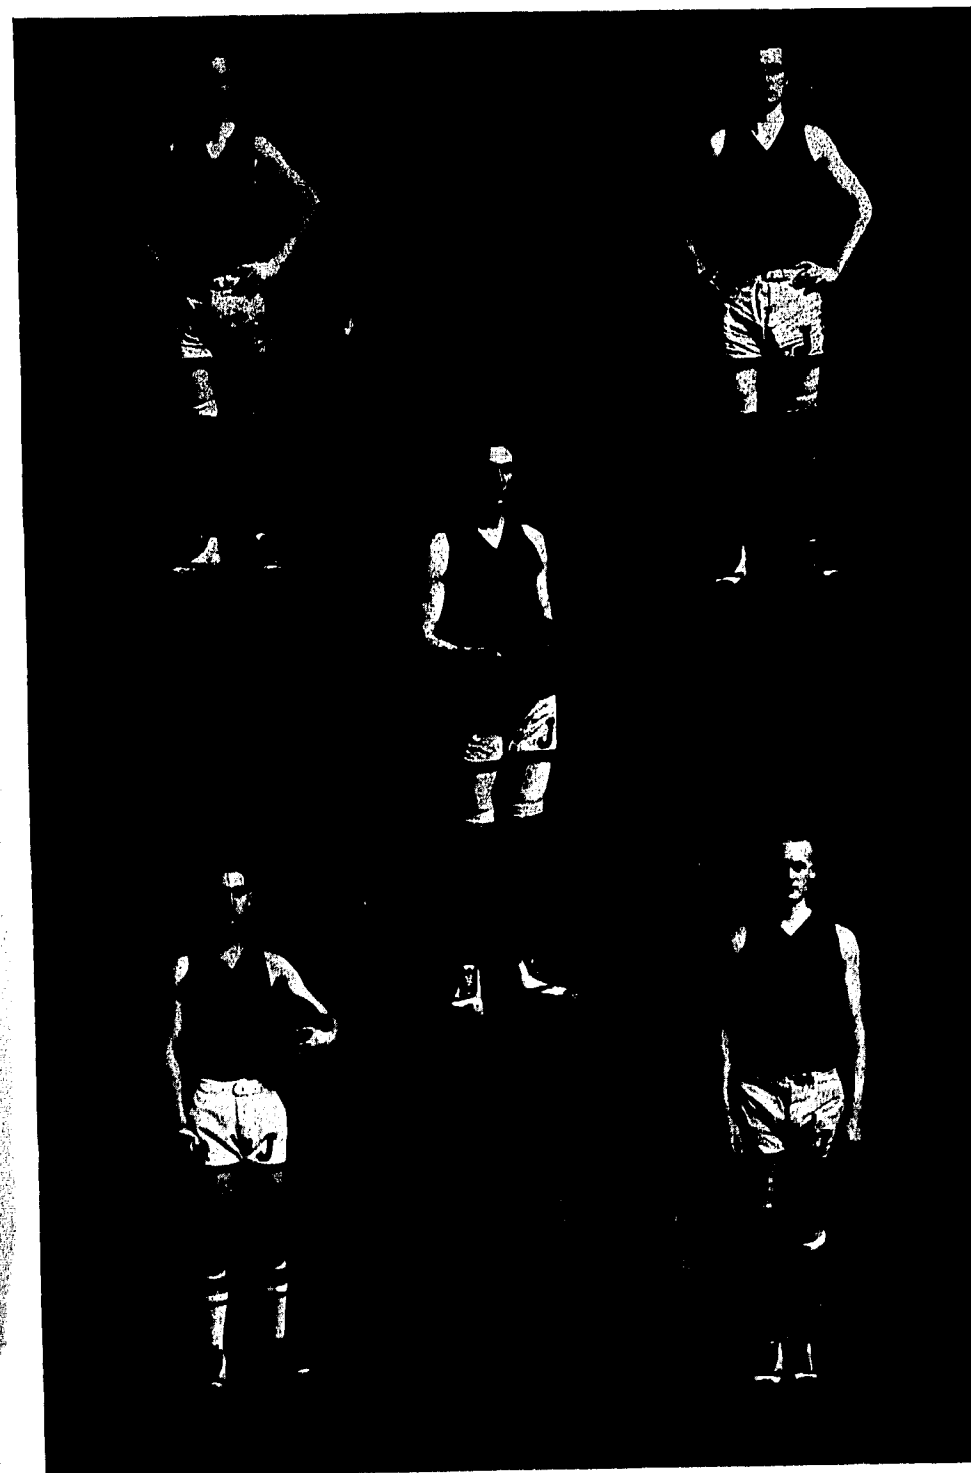

The Springfield Teachers were the next victims on the program. The pedagogues displayed excellent defensive work in the first half and held the Cardinals scoreless. However, in the third quarter, Shoemaker received the kick-off and returned the ball twenty-five yards. "Pug" Wood then carried the ball through for an additional twenty yards, and Julian lugged it over for the first score. In the final period, the Teachers fumbled and Jewell recovered. Then Wood smashed through to the Educators' one-yard line, and Julian again carried the ball over for the second counter and kicked goal. Julian, Shoemaker and Wood were the stars of the contest.

JEWELL 7. WESTMINSTER BLUE JAYS 0.

The Cardinal machine then journeyed down to Fulton to tangle with the much touted Blue Jays. The Callaway county team had held Wesleyan to a tie early in the season, and "Dad" was expecting the hardest game of the year. The Blue Jays held the Jewells scoreless the first quarter, but early in the second period Shoemaker, Wood, Julian and Company smashed through to the two-yard line, and the former of the firm carried the ball over for the only score of the day. Julian kicked goal. The rest of the game was fought on about equal terms.

JEWELL 0. MISSOURI WESLEYAN 0.

"Beat Wesleyan!" That war cry has become almost as famous in Jewell circles as "Remember the Maine" served to inspire the khaki clad troops of '98. The maroon and black eleven of Cameron invaded Jewelltown on Thanksgiving day with the intention of teaching the Cardinals how the game should be played. Cock sure, they were, yes, sir! But when those eleven husky lads, the pride of Jewell, trotted out on the field with determination in their eyes, the Cardinal rooters knew the Cameron team wouldn't have an easy time. And they didn't! During all four quarters the ball was played in Wesleyan territory, but the Cardinals could not carry the pigskin through the bulky Wesleyan line. Dow of Jewell and McCoy of Wesleyan had a nice little time playing all by themselves, but the crimson clad athlete had the advantage of the boots by about ten yards to the try. Jewell's only chance to score was in the first period when the ball was on the Wesleyan ten-yard line, but the scoring punch was out of gear. At no time were the visitors dangerous. Jewell completed eight first downs to the Wesleyan's three. Finney, Isbell, Thomason, Jeter, Jones, Newman, Barton, Julian, Wood, Shoemaker and Dow were the stars of the game.

Basketball==Season 1921

WHEN school opened in September the prospects for a winning basketball team were bright, indeed. With such men as House, Creed Joyce, Basil Joyce, Warren, Newman, Dow, McAdoo and Conway enrolled in school it looked as if we had the bunting all cinched. However, during the football season Jewell's star guard, House, was injured sufficient to keep him off the floor this season. Then the eligibility committee of the M. I. A. A. conference ruled out another demon on the defense, Creed Joyce. To add to this, old Man Hard Luck made his appearance in time to put Basil Joyce out for the entire season. We don't like to begin this story with numerous alibis because the crimson goal tossers did stellar work during the 1921 season, and even better things are promised for next year.

Dad collected his bunch together, loaded them on the "Interruption" and took them over to the big Burg to wage war on Henry Ashley's Blue Diamond stars. The first half found the Jewells playing like wildfire and it was all the National champions could do to stop them. Several times during the initial half the Cardinals held the long end of the score. However, Singer & Co. soon got into their own, and a final score of 59 to 20 tells the story. But that wasn't so very, very bad considering that the Blue Diamonds are now the Champions of the United States.

The next victim on the program was Junior College of Kansas City. They journeyed over to Jewelltown expecting to repeat their performance of the past three years, but the Newman, Joyce, McAdoo combination was too much for them, in spite of the fact that it took a five-minute play-off to settle the argument. The final score was 29 to 25.

The first conference game of the season was with the Drury College quintet. It was a thriller from start to finish, and at the end of the forty minutes the score stood 25 all. In the five-minute play-off Drury went wild on goal shooting and emerged the victors. Warren was the star of the contest. The final score was 35 to 27.

The next night the Maryville Bearcats came down for a conference game. All four periods were played with plenty of snap and almost perfect teamwork on the part of the Jewells. At the end of the first half the score was ten to nine, with the Bowles boys holding the even number. The end of the game found the locals on the long end of a 37 to 25 count. Newman, McAdoo and Conway were the stars.

Missouri Wesleyan proved the next victims in a 35 to 15 romp. Teamwork was responsible for another win, as the Cardinal quintet worked like a well-oiled machine. The second half was more like a football game than anything else. McAdoo and Newman starred for Jewell.

Jewell lost the next one to Tarkio on their court. Jewell held a five-point margin until near the close of the first half when the Tarkio forwards hooked some long ones, forcing Jewell to take the short end of a 21 to 17 count. The second period was neck and neck all the way, but the Jewells were unable to overcome the lead. Score, 34 to 31.

The Maryville game on their floor resulted in a 35 to 24 victory for Jewell. The first half was fought on about equal terms, but the Cardinals held a small lead throughout this period. In the second half, Jewell pulled away from their opponents and held a good lead the rest of the game.

In the second game with Junior College on the city court, the Cardinals emerged with a 25 to 23 count in their favor. The game was hard fought all the way and fouls were numerous on both teams.

In the best battle staged on the home court this season, the crimson jerseyed athletes took the measure of the Springfield Pedagogues by a score of 37 to 31. The best teamwork ever shown was displayed by "our boys." Springfield was unable to gain headway through our guards. However, near the end of the game the Springfield lads pulled up a little, but the Jewell lead was too much.

The second game with Missouri Wesleyan was played on the Jewell court, and again we were victorious, 44 to 26. "Swede" McAdoo hooked ten counters. Dow and Warren played a stellar game.

Warrensburg proved too much for the Cardinals, and the Darling-Giltner-Markey combination simply outclassed us. The visitors won, 46 to 24.

The same mishap occurred at the Warrensburg court. The locals dropped two contests to the M. I. A. A. champions. Score of first game, 65 to 24. Score of the second disaster, 49 to 13.

The Cardinals then journeyed down to Springfield, where they dropped three more. The first was a 39 to 22 victory to Drury, the second a 38 to 24 gift to Springfield and the last a 25 to 20 love feast to the Snavley bunch.

The last game of the season was played on the home court, and Tarkio was the fortunate bunch in a 28 to 20 contest. McAdoo and Conway were both out of the game, and this helps to explain the score. Tarkio gained a lead in the early part of the initial half and held it throughout the forty minutes.

PROSPECTS FOR NEXT YEAR

With Creed Joyce, former K. C. A. C. star, as captain of next year's basketeers, things look unusually bright for next season. McAdoo and Conway will also be back, as well as Basil Joyce, a former William Jewell star on the court. Jaudon, a freshman, also has some ability, and will doubtless prove valuable to Coach Bowles next season.

Relief

We hear a great deal of the Blue Laws,
Of how they take from us our freedom,
And some folks may think they're not due laws,
But take it from me, boy, we need 'em.

We need 'em—Oh, maybe not each one,
Like smoking or taking a life,
But there's one that I think is a peach, son,
The one about kissing friend wife.

Now I used to enjoy osculation
With the wife—it at one time had kick—
But I do not see how in creation
I stand it now and don't get sick.

So I'll welcome a law, now believe me—
To say this I've got lots of cheek—
I'll welcome some writ to relieve me
From kissing my wife once a week.

—William L. Love.

The Baseball Season

THE 1920 baseball season was successful in every way. The Cardinals met their opponents eleven times and registered nine victories—and the championship. Captain "Dimp" Evans with a batting average of .490, and Cleo Dean, "Iron Man," in the box, were the two big factors in most of the Jewell victories. Dean won nine straight games, six of them being in pairs.

The season opened with Dean on the mound, Martin receiving, "Squaw" Bell at first, George Lee on second, "Dimp" Evans shortstop, Guimple on third, Pollard in right garden, Ferguson in center, and "Pug" Wood in the left. Morgan finished the season in right field and Hon was used in every position on the team. After Bell wrenched his knee, Hon played a flashy game at first. George Lee played his third and last season and was better than ever, covering all his territory, and more, in first-class style.

April 23rd found Missouri Valley on the Jewell field confident of winning the game with Schepers, their star hurler, on the mound. Their hopes were disappointed, for Dean was in form, and Jewell won 5-0. The game was 1-0 in favor of Jewell until the eighth inning, in which four more counters were run across. The next week the Blue Jays flitted over for two games. Jewell won the first, 6-2. In this game Lee batted out two singles and a triple. The second game was an eleven-inning affair, the score being 1-1 until the eleventh inning, when Dean walked to first and then stole second. Ferguson sacrificed Dean to third, and Pollard brought him home on a hit through short-stop. Dean pitched both games.

On May 4th Central won a twelve-inning game from Jewell, the score being 11-10. "Pug" Wood started the game in the box, was relieved by Evans, who in turn stepped out in favor of Dean in the fourth inning.

On May 7th and 8th the team met Kirksville on their home field and added two more victories to its list. The score of the first game was 10-14. Martin nailed three hits out of five chances and Evans added another home run to his list. Dean was back on the mound the next day and won this game also, with a score of 13-3. In these games the "Iron Man" used nothing but a straight ball—and a smile, which was never lacking in a game.

On May 4th Missouri Wesleyan defeated Jewell on her home field with a score of 6-5. Wood started the game in the box, was retired in favor of Evans, who gave way to Dean in the third inning. The game was slow on account of Jewell having just returned from a two days' trip to Kirksville.

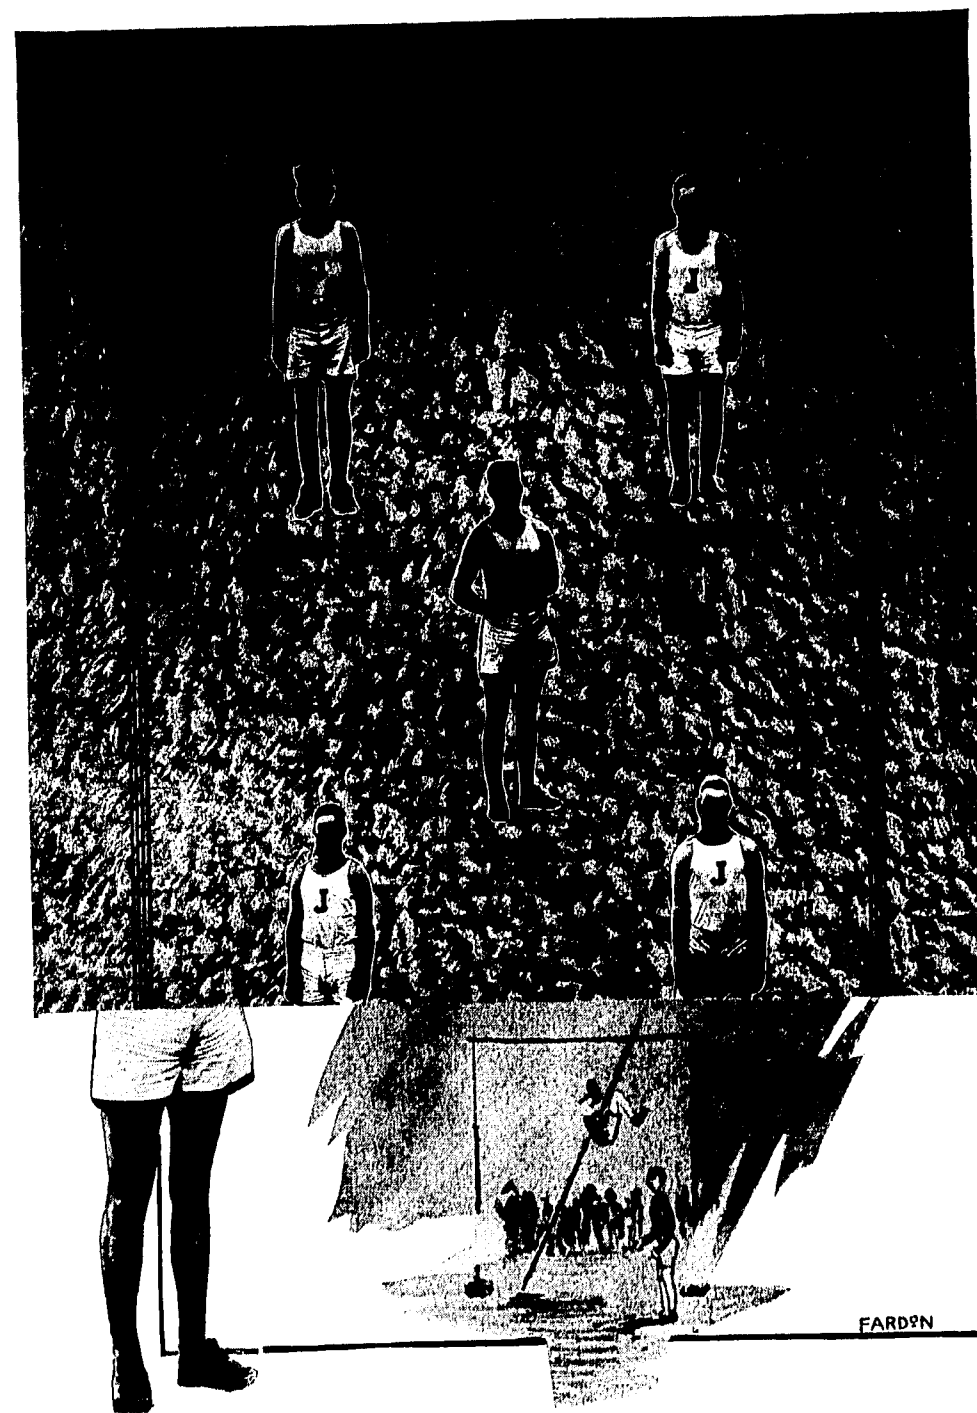

On May 13th the "Big Red Team" journeyed to Marshall and won from Missouri Valley with a score of 7-4. Jewell scored three in the first inning through Guimple's triple, Lee's single and Wood's double.

Dean only warmed up in the Marshall game and came back at Central on the 14th, and pitched a winning game with a score of 9-2. Evans straightened out a long one over left field for four bases in the 5th inning.

On May 19th Jewell town declared a holiday and everyone went to Cameron to see the Cardinals trim Missouri Wesleyan to the tune of 5-1. Wesleyan scored the first run in the fourth inning, but Jewell came back for one in the fifth. The game stood 1-1 until the ninth inning, when Guimple drew a double and Wood a single. Dean also hit a lone bagger, Ferguson walked and stole home, which made the fourth run in that inning.

The last game of the season was with Tarkio on the home field. Jewell won an easy victory with a score of 14-0. Evans rang up three hits, Lee two, Ferguson three, including a home run, and Dean two.

This year was one of the most successful from every point of view. The Cardinals were presented with the Schmelzer trophy which is awarded each year to the championship team in the M. I. A. A. Without question, Dean was the best pitcher in the Missouri Valley Conference. He had lots of "stuff," a steady head and iron nerve. Evans headed the batting list, with Lee running a close second. "Dad" Bowles was always on the job, keeping his men upon their toes, and winning games by headwork.

The Track Season

WHEN the season opened only one letter man and point winner was in school, and "Dad" began to look around for new material out of which to construct a winning machine. Captain Carr Eubank showed up in his usual form, winning every low hurdle race, and always placing in the 220-dash and broad jump. Shoemaker, a new man on the Jewell cinder path galaxy of stars, did splendid work in the quarter-mile and relay races. Bert Jones, another new man, won his letter in the shot-put and placed in every meet. Stannard and Vineyard worked well on the relay team. In addition to this, Stannard ran the mile, and Vineyard did the high jump. Billingsly, another newcomer, showed up well in the high jump, especially in the Baker meet, where he won his letter.

Four meets were registered on the Jewell Track Calendar. The first was with Polytechnic Institute of Kansas City, Mo. Jewell carried off the honors with a score of 56 2-3 to 47 1-3. In this meet Eubank won four firsts, topping the hurdles in 27 flat, the 220-dash, broad jump and 100-yard dash. Shoemaker copped the quarter-mile race, and Bert Jones won the shot-put.

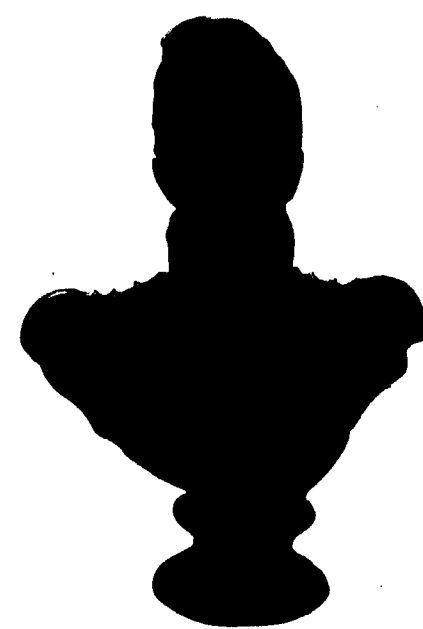

In the next meet Jewell did not come off so well. The aboriginal athletes from Haskell Institute met the Jewell aggregation on their home field and scalped them to the tune of 77 to 27. The feature of the meet was the 100-yard race between Eubank and Thompson of Haskell. When they breasted the tape only a few inches lay between them. The judges awarded Thompson the race. Eubank of the Cardinals and Webster of the Haskell tied for individual honors, both scoring a total of thirteen points.

In the meet with Baker Jewell lost again. Eubank won the low hurdles and Showmaker ran a close second to Larson of Baker in the quarter-mile race. This was without doubt the prettiest race of the day. Not until the tape was crossed did the Baker man win, and then only by inches.

For the first time since 1912, the beginning of Track history in the M. I. A. A., Jewell lost the State track meet at Cameron on May 20th. Missouri Wesleyan won the honors. The only first for Jewell was taken by Eubank in the low hurdles.

HISTORY repeated itself this year in that Jewell again won the State Tennis Championship. This makes the fourth year that this honor has been won by Jewell. The season opened with a victory over Baker University at Baldwin, Kansas. In that tournament Evans and Fisher each won the singles, and together they won the doubles. In the tournament with Washburn College at Topeka, luck was with our opponents, and they won in both singles and doubles. Whittaker was Evans' mate in the Washburn games. In the state tournament Jewell came to the front. Evans won the singles and Evans and Fisher won the doubles. Both Evans and Fisher played classy games and they will long be remembered as two of the fastest wielders of the cat-gut ever seen on the William Jewell courts.

The Track Season

WHEN the season opened only one letter man and point winner was in school, and "Dad" began to look around for new material out of which to construct a winning machine. Captain Carr Eubank showed up in his usual form, winning every low hurdle race, and always placing in the 220-dash and broad jump. Shoemaker, a new man on the Jewell cinder path galaxy of stars, did splendid work in the quarter-mile and relay races. Bert Jones, another new man, won his letter in the shot-put and placed in every meet. Stannard and Vineyard worked well on the relay team. In addition to this, Stannard ran the mile, and Vineyard did the high jump. Billingsly, another newcomer, showed up well in the high jump, especially in the Baker meet, where he won his letter.

Four meets were registered on the Jewell Track Calendar. The first was with Polytechnic Institute of Kansas City, Mo. Jewell carried off the honors with a score of 56 2-3 to 47 1-3. In this meet Eubank won four firsts, topping the hurdles in 27 flat, the 220-dash, broad jump and 100-yard dash. Shoemaker copped the quarter-mile race, and Bert Jones won the shot-put.

In the next meet Jewell did not come off so well. The aboriginal athletes from Haskell Institute met the Jewell aggregation on their home field and scalped them to the tune of 77 to 27. The feature of the meet was the 100-yard race between Eubank and Thompson of Haskell. When they breasted the tape only a few inches lay between them. The judges awarded Thompson the race. Eubank of the Cardinals and Webster of the Haskell tied for individual honors, both scoring a total of thirteen points.

In the meet with Baker Jewell lost again. Eubank won the low hurdles and Showmaker ran a close second to Larson of Baker in the quarter-mile race. This was without doubt the prettiest race of the day. Not until the tape was crossed did the Baker man win, and then only by inches.

For the first time since 1912, the beginning of Track history in the M. I. A. A., Jewell lost the State track meet at Cameron on May 20th. Wesleyan won the honors.

The Pan-Hellenic Council

THE PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL of William Jewell was founded to govern and to promote the best interests of fraternities in William Jewell. Not only does it at the present time accomplish the above functions, but it also serves to bring the men of the fraternities in the Pan-Hellenic together in meetings of good-fellowship and thereby cements a bond of brotherhood between them. Through the efforts of the council the selfish interests of each respective fraternity are subordinated for the good of the whole; and co-operation, loyalty to each other and good sportsmanship are developed and are demanded of the fraternities holding membership in the Pan-Hellenic.

A November Sunrise

For long, in the azure haze of early morning,
There was no sign on the broad and deep horizon,
Of the mighty sun behind it rising.
Then of a sudden leaped there in the South
An open golden area, all set
Within a crimson ring of strange and wondrous shape.

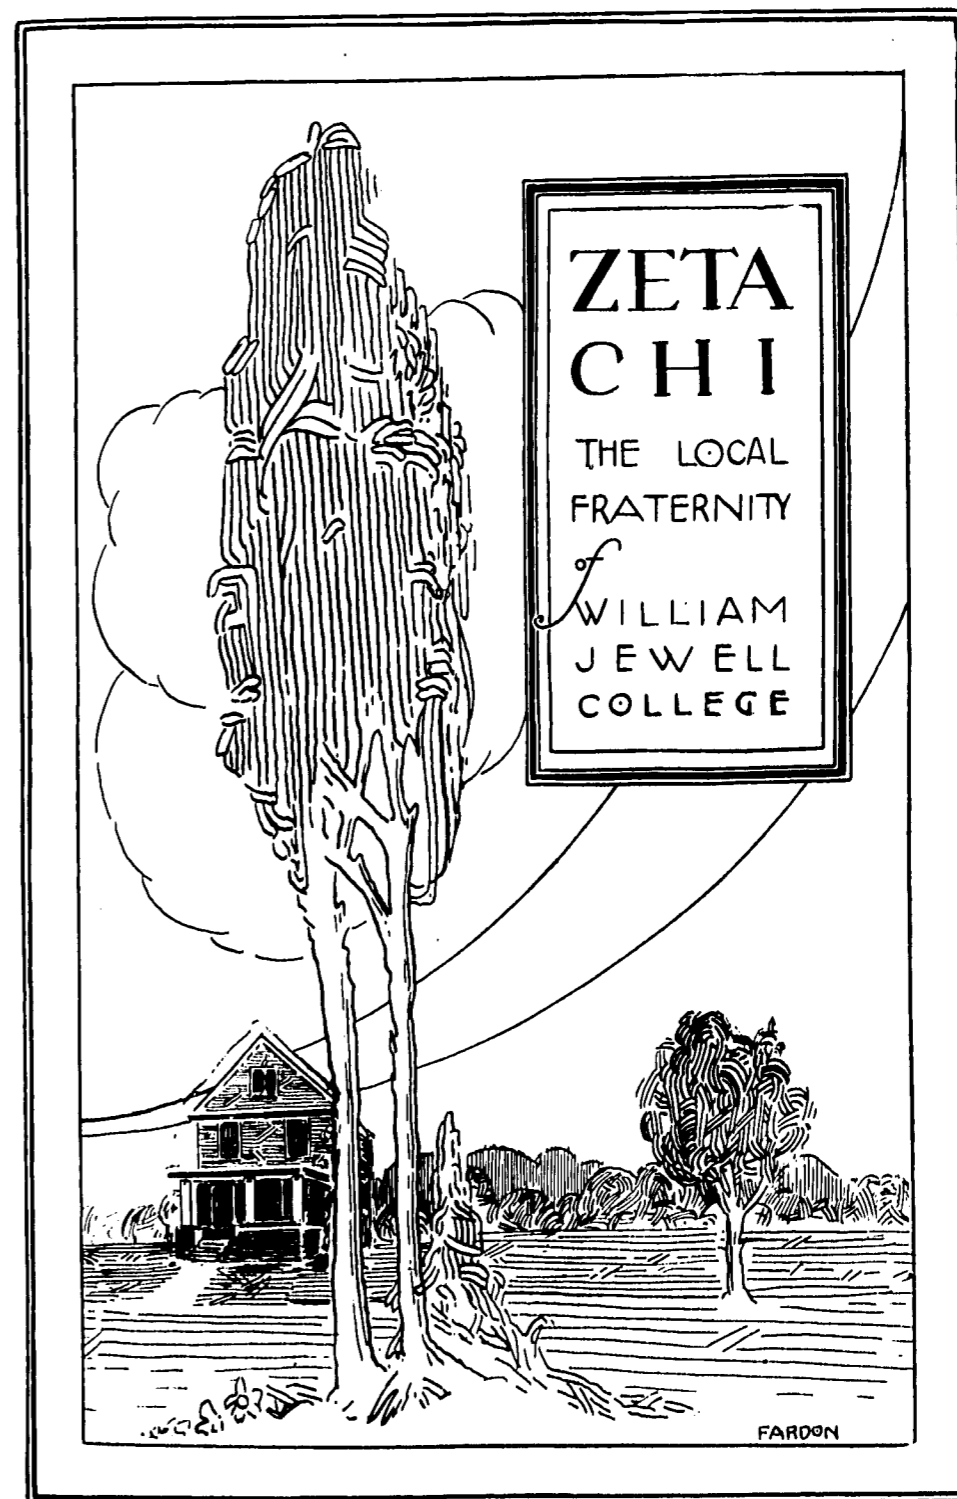

In the open deep-blue vault of heaven above,
A rift began to break.
Light featherings of pink and gold broke thru,
And over all the earth a marv'ous brightness gleamed.

The trees, prepared for winter's cold embrace,
Thrust forth their bare and naked boughs, as if,
In supplication to the coming Lord of Day,
They their petition made for Spring and its rebirth.

But, far along the great embattled line
Where earth and sky seem welded into one,
Came hurrying azure clouds of threat'ning greyness.
Above, Dawn's golden spurs still glistened on the morn.

And as the gorgeous flushes of the garish sky
Increased and swelled in iridescence wonderful,
The aureate center of our system,
As of old, by strong Apollo driven,
Rolled high above the sapphire clouds,
While ever-mantling glory dazzled all the world.

FOR MANY decades after its founding the Excelsior Society was one of the most energetic organizations on the Hill. In fact, there was a time when outside the Literary Societies there was very little of anything else stirring on the campus. Time brought its changes, however, and interest in and enthusiasm for the society began to wane. The year 1916 witnessed the demise of the alligator. After he was dead things seemed different on the Hill, and there were those who ardently longed for his resurrection. In the fall of '20 there appeared those who believed they had power to raise the dead and they determined to exert their gifts upon the alligator. Among them were Dr. Evans, "Daddy" Fruit, "Shorty" Lewis, P. Caspar Harvey and a number of students. Arrangements were made to have the demonstration in chapel before the student body. The body of the alligator was carried in, followed by a number of mourners. "Shorty" Lewis, High-Galorum of the new cult, then proceeded with his incantations. Much to the surprise of all the spectators, he not only succeeded in reanimating the alligator, but endowed him with the power of speech. Since that momentous event the alligator has shown remarkable vigor and the possibilities are that he will live long and serve well.

The society was organized to bring the Baptist students of the College into closer touch with Baptist churches and agencies. It disseminates information about Baptist work at home and abroad and seeks recruits for the ministry and mission fields. During the past year a number of missionaries have addressed the Society and some of its members have assisted in mission work in Kansas City.

A Nocturne

Beyond in the western sky a bloody moon hangs low,
Her crescent tips with crimson dripping.

Long flights of steps descending into the town below
Are flanked by rows of mighty elms,
Whose massive limbs upflinging to the sky
Upon the snowy earth weird shadows throw.

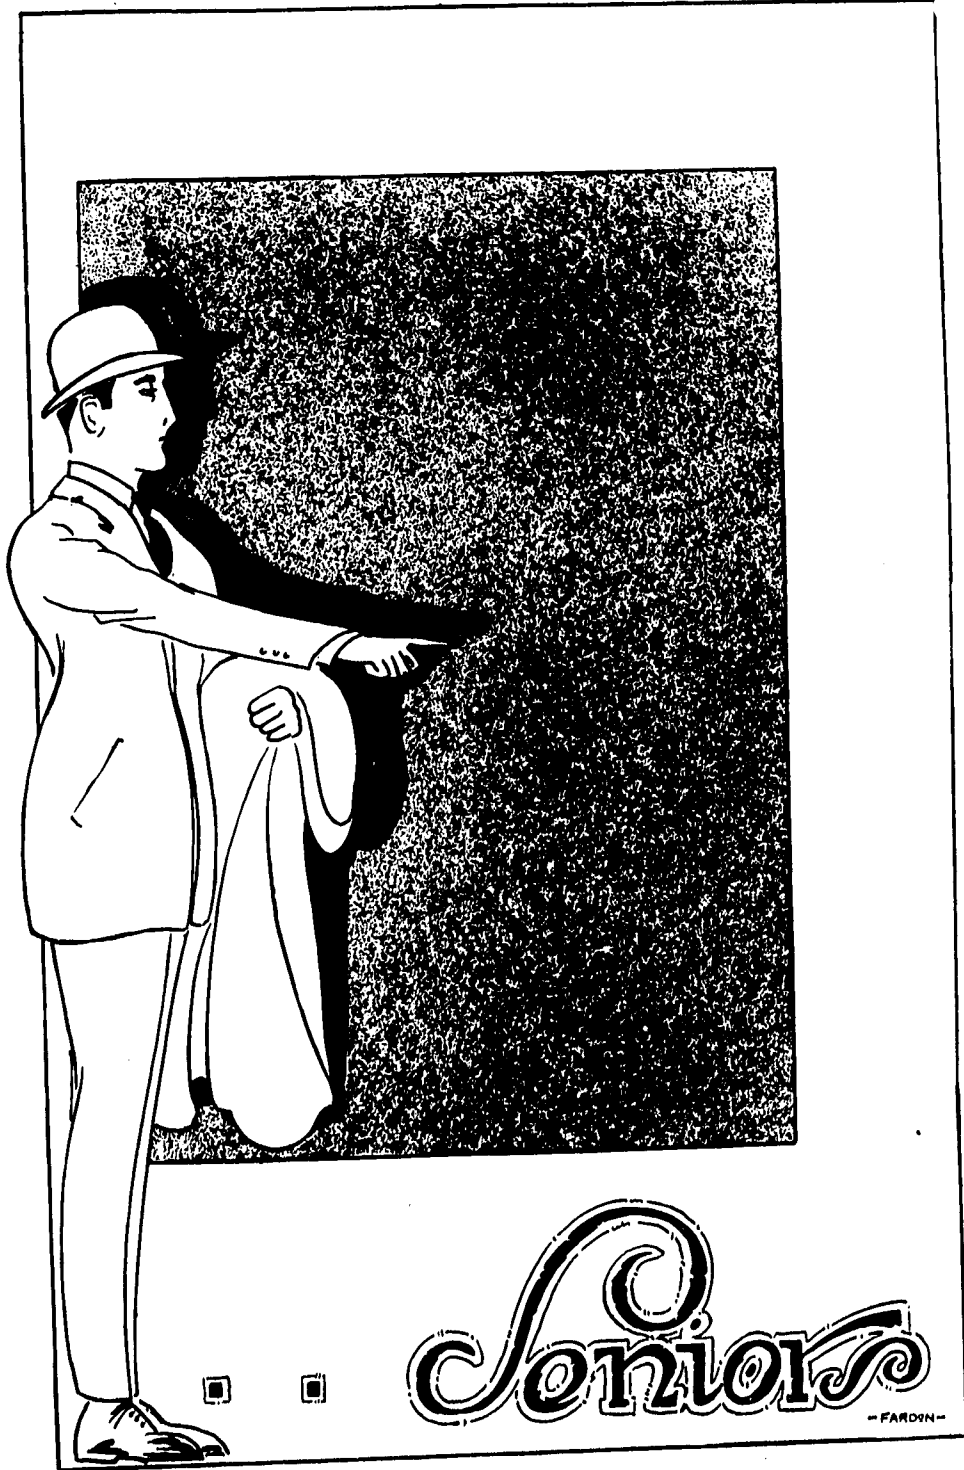

Among the homes of sleeping thousands within the vale
Are scattered man's pale flick'ring lamps;
But in the Heav'ns by worlds unnumbered thronged
The eternal lights of the ages to Infinity's borders gleam.

Beneath my feet the hard snow crisply yields,
While yet more crisply blow the midnight winds.

The Senior Proclamation

Mr. President, Honorable Faculty, and Men of Jewell:

If it were possible for mortal man to fling his gaze down the centuries and to pierce thru the dim, wavering vistas of time, long aeons ago before the machinations of scientists, seers and theologs had solved enigmas of the creation of all things; could we only search out from those aboriginal sources of first beginnings the original struggling nuclei of life, still would we hold it true that nowhere, since the first meadows dripped with the tears of Eos, nowhere since were first opened the curtains of the East by the fair hands of Aurora to make way for the chariot of Apollo, nowhere could we find a specie of life the like of which by our sufferance finds place among us today.

There exists among every specie of lower life except this one a law known as the law of protective coloration, and be it known that there can be no protection for them unless they revert to this prime attribute of their kind.

All created things cry out against the sufferance of this anomaly. With the whispering of the voices of the night come strange protestations; with the lullabies of the winds can be heard the solemn murmur of disapprobation. The voices of nature cry aloud and we hasten to obey.

Hence, it has been ordered by the redoubtable class of '21 that when the eve of day shall have passed its meridian by the period of one hour and fifteen minutes, or in the tongue of the groundlings at one fifteen this day, shall every male Freshman see to it that he shall not appear on the campus of this college unless he is attired in the cap chosen for him and procurable at the Co-op store. This edict shall be in force from this day at one fifteen until between halves of the Thanksgiving game, excepting the periods from Saturday night at midnight until Sunday night at midnight, and from the time he leaves his place of residence to leave the town of Liberty until he returns to his residence.

Violation of this promulgation is punishable by the time-honored practices and will be strictly adhered to as ordered. So be it.

—The Class of '21

Cap-sized

The good Hindu women in days long since past,
Would into the Ganges their young children cast,
Not that they thought that the practice was nice,
But they offered them up as a due sacrifice.

Now "Jool" has a Ganges all of her own,
And into it unruly children are thrown,
Not as a gift to the gods. The poor chaps
Are merely reminded to wear freshman caps.

Moonlight raids
On Freshman boys,
Dormitory
Rings with noise.
Shoes to shine,
Paddlings, too,
Lots of new boys,
Black and blue.
Alley fight,
All secrets bared,
Sophomores win,
Peace declared.
Profs. hardboiled,
Lessons tough,
Freshies try
Their line of bluff.
Brains all muddled,
Hate to work,
Hesitate and
Try to shirk.
Seniors wise
With haughty mien,
Decree for Freshmen,
Caps of green.
Some refuse,
Go to pond,
Visions of
The great Beyond.
Football starts,
One hundred out,
Short, slim, slender,
Weak and stout.
One week's practice,

Censure or Common Sense

By what code do you judge a man, sir?
 By his manner, his grace, or his name?
 By his looks, or the cut of apparel?
 By his share of a popular fame?
 Do you judge with a prejudiced feeling
 Without thinking of blackness which rolls
 O'er his life, wrecking landmark and lighthouse,
 Completely submerging his soul?

Do you smile with a cynical meaning
 As he grapples with fate and is thrown?
 Do you push him down further in blackness
 With contemptuous, cowardly scorn?
 Do you class him at once as a failure
 As he stumbles, he fights and he bleeds?
 Perhaps you yourself are a factor
 That widens the scope of his needs.

What would you have done in his case, sir?
 If misfortune had given a blow
 That would undermine health and your fortune?
 Do you think you would censure and throw
 At yourself—those subjective opinions
 So unmanly, unrighteous and blind
 Because you yourself were a failure?
 Such a code is too cold and unkind.

From any classroom window—behind which some difficult Greek sentence or mathematical enigma running itself into numerous equations of agony may exert its depressing influence—stretches refreshingly gallery after gallery of acclivities scarcely worthy to be named hills. Closely clustered on these knolls usually rise groups of valiant trees—the last remaining of the virgin wood—and in their midst, perhaps, a farmhouse half hidden by their shade. Rolling in quick recurring undulations appear meadows, fields and wood lots, brilliantly green, russet, golden or pure white in conformity with the season and the nature of their vegetation. Not even the deep black of fresh plowing lacks in romance.

At no spot upon the campus is there found so intensely animated the spirit and fullness of the pleasures of life as in New Ely Hall. Yet its many windows look down upon the dark sepulcher of eternally abiding death. Spectral gloom is a silent but protesting neighbor to the unbounded exuberance of youth. That same light which is repelled with cold disdain by the hard, commemorative stone transmits to eager life a fuller conception of the privilege of its existence.

"The Hill" to a Jewell man is all expressive. Its southern extremity ends so precipitately that Marston, more familiarly Science Hall, built upon its brow, assumes an appearance of unwonted altitude. About a central walk—promenade it may now become with the advent of co-education—are grouped the buildings of the college proper: the library, Marston and Jewell halls. Jewell—stands an enemy to Time, its stately and classic walls, its commanding columns aid today as materially in the education of youth as when they were first erected three-score and ten years ago. Old Ely, comforted through retrospection, stands deposed by the more distant and modern New Ely as monarch supreme of the college life. Thus does tradition confront the modern. Jewell Hall, conspicuous with its great columns of fresh coated white, is an active landmark of the memorable past; while Marston Hall is so recent that it seems entirely a promise of the future.

From the "Old Hill" extends in panoramic sweep of verdure a beautiful country checkered with Missouri meadows. Far to the south flows the turbid Missouri which, visible at only one point, seems but a clear and peaceful lake along whose shores search is made to see appear the cottages of summer vacationists. The east flourishes with agriculture. To the rim of the horizon is exhibited the general feature of sameness yet varied with the constant irregularity of rolling prairie. The abrupt descent upon the western side is gradually slackened until it approaches at a gentle angle the town lying below tranquil in its summer indolence or beleaguered in winter's swirling flurry. The same Missouri farm lands seen east and south reach northward from the campus edge across creek, field, pasture and ribbon of roadway.

MARCH

31. An epidemic of spring fever is on the hill.

APRIL

1. April fool! Some did it by studying English.
2. Student body votes to award sweaters to athletes.
3. "Dimp" Evans elected baseball captain; Carr Eubank, track captain, and "Spike" Newman, basketball captain.
4. Baseball practice on in full swing. All aboard for the M. I. A. A. championship!! "Christy" Dean at the helm.
8. Big explosion in Science hall. Just a freshman generating hydrogen.
9. Y. M. C. A. election in chapel. R. A. Ward elected president, W. E. Gwatkin, vice-president.
15. Baseball schedule announced. Five games to be played on local diamond and five on foreign soil.
16. Prof. MacKinney moves the correspondence class to the library.
17. Haskell Red Skins scalp the pale-faced lads from Jewell, in annual track and field meet, 77 to 27.
24. Fourth annual track and field meet for high schools. Trenton wins first honors. Smith of Carrollton breaks state record in high jump by clearing bar at six feet.
26. Keen Spitters meet in annual session, presided over by "Horseshoe" Diehl.

28. Sophomores entertain Seniors. W. J. Bryan congratulates "Little Tom" Fardon on memorable speech.

29. Tatler officers chosen. "Alphabet" Smith, editor in chief; S. E. Smith, business manager. "Alphabet" resigns and is succeeded by R. W. Settle.

MAY

1. Those Methodists from Baker were a fast bunch, and out-tracked the Bowles tracksters 81 to 23.

2. Fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Greene's entrance into the ministry. Here's wishing him many more.

4. The Blue Jay feathers plucked by the Cardinal nine 6 to 2.

5. The Blue Jay bird is still haughty, so Deans humbles the Fulton nine in an eleven-chapter story 2 to 1.

7. "Mother Day" services held in chapel. Dr. Fruit reads "Mother o' Mine." Dr. Lewis sings "Mother Machree."

8. Cardinals lose first game of the season to Joy Kisler's Eagles in a 12-inning contest, 12 to 10.

10. Bowlesters come back strong and win from Kirksville 9 to 6.

11. The pedagogues wanted more and it was served with the Jewell label, 13 to 3. "Squaw" Bell makes a hit with the Kirksville school marms.

12. The Freshmen are introduced to real politics. "Rabbits" win an easy victory over the "Goats."

13. Missouri Wesleyan defeated the Jewell gang 6 to 5.

14. The Jewell cinder path artists win over Junior College 56 to 47. "Squaw" Bell loses his pants. "No pants, no race."

15. Jewell, 7; Missouri Valley, 4.

17. Dad's bunch went over to Central and walloped Dr. Baskett's Alma Mater 9 to 2.

19. Faculty grants holiday. Student body goes to Cameron in passenger train, automobiles and otherwise—mostly otherwise. Dean and Co. take sweet revenge on the Davis nine and win 5 to 1. For the fifth consecutive time, William Jewell wins the M. I. A. A. title in baseball.

21. Conference track meet at Cameron. Jewell compelled to take fifth place. Freshman chemistry class to K. C.

24. Faculty vote to close school June 12th instead of June 18th. A week more to play golf, "Daddy."

26. O. W. Stanbrough writes new college song. Cleo Dean elected captain of the 1921 nine, and R. A. Shoemaker chosen to lead track artists.

28. "When a feller needs a friend"—exams only two weeks off.

JUNE

3. Just ten more days!!

6. Lucille Conway and Hazel Sevier begin studying.

12. Whew!!! All over! Are the grades posted yet?

13. Baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Greene.

14. Class stunts and Senior class exercises.

15. Meeting of Jewell alumni.

16. Commencement exercises. End of school. Good bye!

"A COMEDY OF ERRORS"

Being a Reproduction of "Daddy" Fruit's Shakespeare Class.

Characters—Forty-one "Yallar" Dawgs, having their names on the roll book.

Time: Ten Thousand Years.

Scene: Third floor, northwest corner Jewell Hall, known as "The Kennels."

SCENE I.

Characters enter with yells and applause.

Daddy (after throwing a few erasers and pieces of chalk to obtain order)
"Now, you listen to the roll call now!"

Daddy finishes calling the prisoners' numbers and then—

Voices from the rear—"Twenty is here, Doctor." "Thirty-two is present."
"Didju mark me present, Doctor?"

Another character enters accompanied by whistling and applause.

Daddy—"Now, you listen to me now. Some of you are not paying attention and you won't know what the lesson is for tomorrow. I want you to read ten acts of 'As You Like It' and the first twelve acts of 'Othello.' Now, what's the lesson for today, Miss Hazel.

Miss Hazel (blushing)—"I forgot."

Daddy—"Forgot? What do you come to class for?"

Miss Hazel—"Four hours."

Characters in unison—"Giv'er an A, Doctor."

Daddy—"Stanley, do you know what the lesson is?"

Stanley—"Yes, sir, Doctor, but I'm not going to tell." Loud laughter from the rear.

SCENE II.

Daddy—"Now, you listen to me while I try to teach you something. It's a pretty hard job, but I'll try to pour a few drops in your little tin cups."

Characters from the rear—"Little brown jug, Doctor."

Daddy—"Now, I'm going to tell you something that I told you in Freshman English. How many times have I said—(censored). Now, I am going to ask you some questions at random."

Characters (in unison)—"Can we answer 'em in the same way, Doctor?"

Daddy—"Now, you animals (description censored), listen to me. Only about half of you have a book, and then you never study it. You won't listen to me when I try to teach you something."

Characters—"Byler." "S. student."

Daddy—"Now the universal rule of the drama is, 'Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also—,'"

Characters—"Amen! Arise and sing! Lemme take up a collection, Doctor."

Daddy—"Now you &)%*****!!"" fools back there in that last row, shut your mouths."

Bill Love—"I was trying to keep Royse quiet, Doctor."

Daddy—"Love is the one I'm talking to. Now, I'm going to write some questions on the board for tomorrow's lesson."

Daddy writes the questions on the board. The characters busily engaged in making aeroplanes and sailing them across the room. They begin throwing them at Daddy. He turns around quickly and yells "assassins." "Shoot a fellow in the back, will you?"

Just then the bell rings and the characters make a hurried exit.

Quick Curtain.

On Graduating

Graduating from a college is very much like dying—it is a troublesome place one is departing from, but he rather hates to go.

Along in March and April a Senior becomes afflicted with the graduation blues. His mood becomes habitually reminiscent. Time after time the whole panorama of his college career passes before his mind's vision, and he recalls, almost tenderly, his class scraps, his first flunk, the various girls he has had dates with, the courses he has passed without having purchased a text book, the courses he thought he could pass without text books, his fraternity initiation, and the time he won his first letter in athletics. The high spots of his learning are wafted to his memory. How satisfied he feels after having learned that the writings of Walt Whitman are really poetry; that Edgar Allen Poe could not possibly have been intoxicated when he wrote "The Raven;" that it is utterly useless for a young man to have the least suspicion of combating the ruthless world without a thorough knowledge of chemistry; that the very foundation of the universe itself is based upon a mathematical formula.

Everything about the Old Hill seems very dear to him. Forgotten are the tons of oatmeal he has eaten at the dorm, the enumerable solos of Dr. Lewis in chapel, the number of hours of fervent prayer put in just before sociology exams, the bales of paper consumed in writing chronological notes for Prof. MacKinney. He thinks only of the pleasant experiences.

The time is at hand when he will shove his diploma gingerly behind his ear, fasten his four-year collection of hardware upon his vest, write himself out a recommendation on college stationery and go forth to battle the cru-ell world. He will go first to all the banks in the vicinity to see if they can use him—if not as president, at least as cashier. Finding that banks really do not appreciate the full worth of the college graduate, he will strike the larger packers for a position as superintendent of a branch office or two. But packers also will be incapable of recognizing a latent genius in a fellow. So he will go home and hit dad for a job. The only thing dad will have to offer will be clerk in his corner grocery, so the young A. B. will accept as it will enable him to live at home for a few more years.

So small wonder the melancholy days have come for the senior. He has serious things ahead of him. But he still has hopes of flunking his spring examinations, rendering it unnecessary for him to graduate after all.

—William L. Lovv.

"A Dissertation
On Prunes"

By HARRY G. PARKER

Reviewers agree that this book marks the beginning of a new epoch in the discussion of the relation of the atom to the Nebulae Hypothesis. A casual reading of the volume will convince the most skeptical that the learned author is full of his subject.

This space was reserved for the Co. Op. Much to our regret, however,
this noble institution,
which has been suffering from general debility for several years, committed suicide and passed into the realm of forgotten things intestate. Therefore no funds could be found with which to advertise.
