Dedication

To you who by unswerving loyalty and untiring zeal are making sure the Greater William Jewell—to you, the Alumni we the Class of 1917 dedicate this Annual as a token of our appreciation for the services you have rendered and to indicate our high regard for you as worthy sons of the Old Hill

Foreword

The Editors indulge the fond hope that this Book will not only please the gentle reader but will also contribute to the success of the Greater William Jewell movement; it is a record of our College Life, Let him who reads know that through all its pages runs a love and veneration for the old Hill which will never grow old

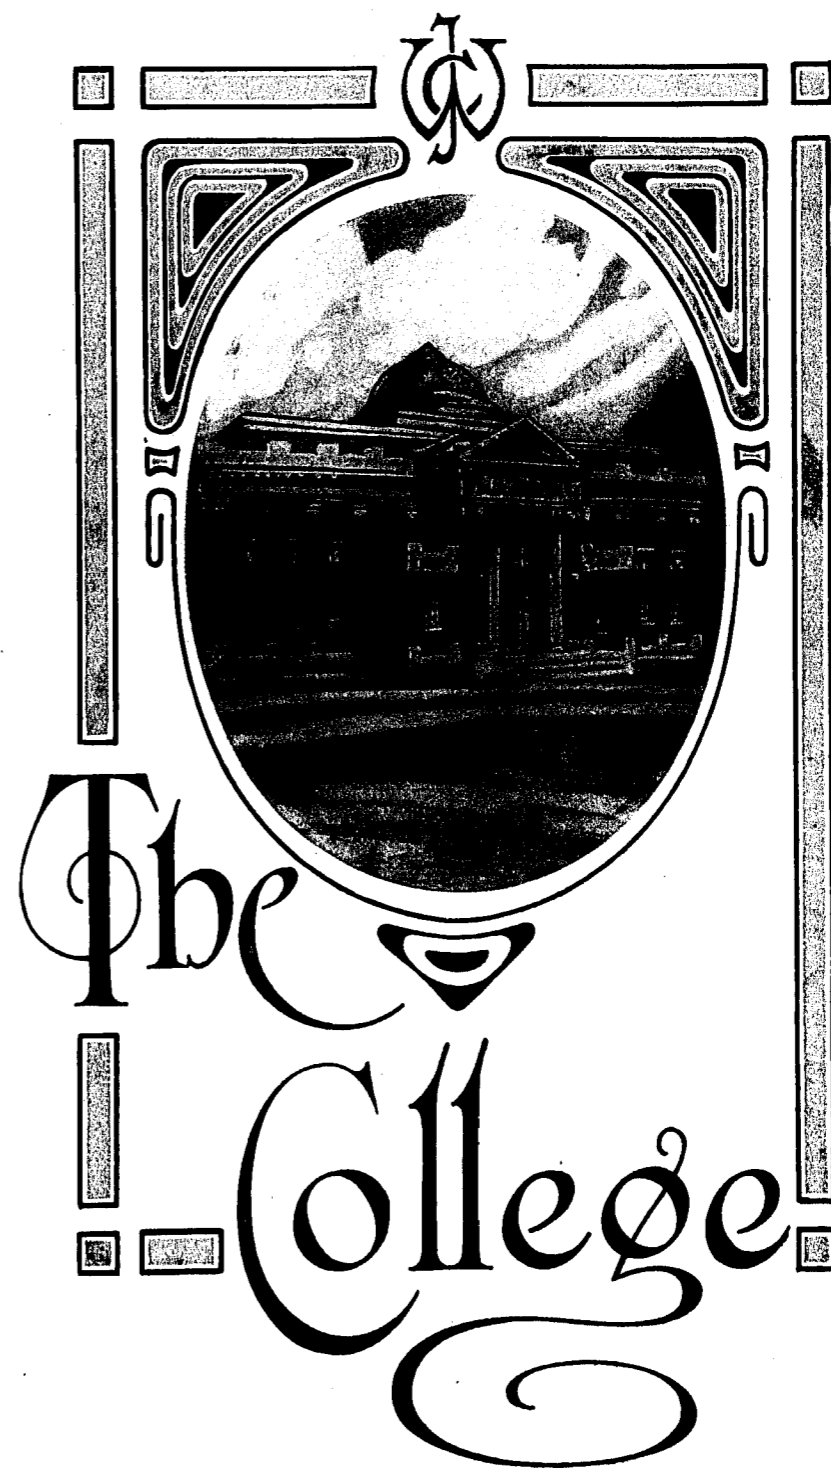

Our Song of Praise

To thee, Old Hill, our college home,
We sing this song,
'Tis not henceforth for long
Our student steps thy pleasant site shall roam;
But when at last we go,
O may we know
Thy light doth lead us through the gloam!

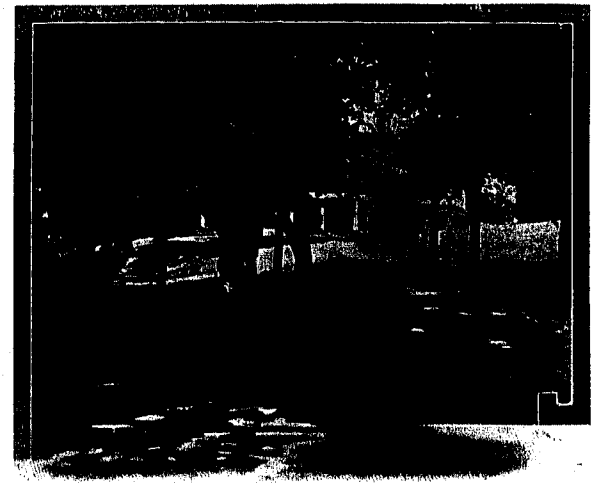

For we have learned to trust thy light,
Thy light of love
Which hath the power to move
From out our souls the dark and mystic night:
So this our song of praise
To thee we raise
For guidance on our way so bright.

And when thou here hast oped our eyes,
Then may we find
Our future course outlined
To live and prove that truth is life's best prize:
Thus may we emulate
Thy love so great
And scroll thy message in the skies!

A Petition to the Faculty

(An appreciation plus an appeal)

Another year has sped; we draw a-near
Your council table for a parting word:
Perchance we may assure you we have heard,
Have felt and in our minds have valued dear
The love and labor that you lavished here
On us: we hope not vain, for you have stirred
Our all too aimless, sluggish hearts to gird
About them knowledge, courage, hope and cheer.

Then take these pauper off'rings that we bring—
We think perhaps we give you of our best—
And see if worthy merit in them be:
But if you relish not a thing
So crudely wrought, we beg that you invest
Those who succeed with more dexterity.

HURSCHEL L. CALDWELL
Green Ridge, Missouri.
Minister, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '12-'13; Class
Basketball '13; Colorado Club.
*I wonder if this world is real,
Or these bright things we see
Just spread about to make us feel
The joy that is to be.*

ALLEN LUTHER HENDRIX
Caddistown, Georgia.
I wish the professors wouldn't ask me so often for information. It makes me blush to have them think I know more than they.

GUY VAUGHN PRICE

*He's plain and earnest of face,
A very good singer of bass!
No Nimrod is he,
But still one can see
He thinks a lot of the Chase.*

REX IDRIS JAMES
Bevier, Missouri.
Excelsior; Executive Committee Joint Session; Dutch Club; Cosmopolitan Club; "Steno" Club.

*He nibbled at the mental bait
Until he bared the hook!
The pros have jerked and jerked—but wait,
Here goes he from their brook.*

LOUIS H. HIBBITTS
Union City, Tennessee.
KA; Assistant in Physics; Fle Club; Dutch Club; Scientific Club.

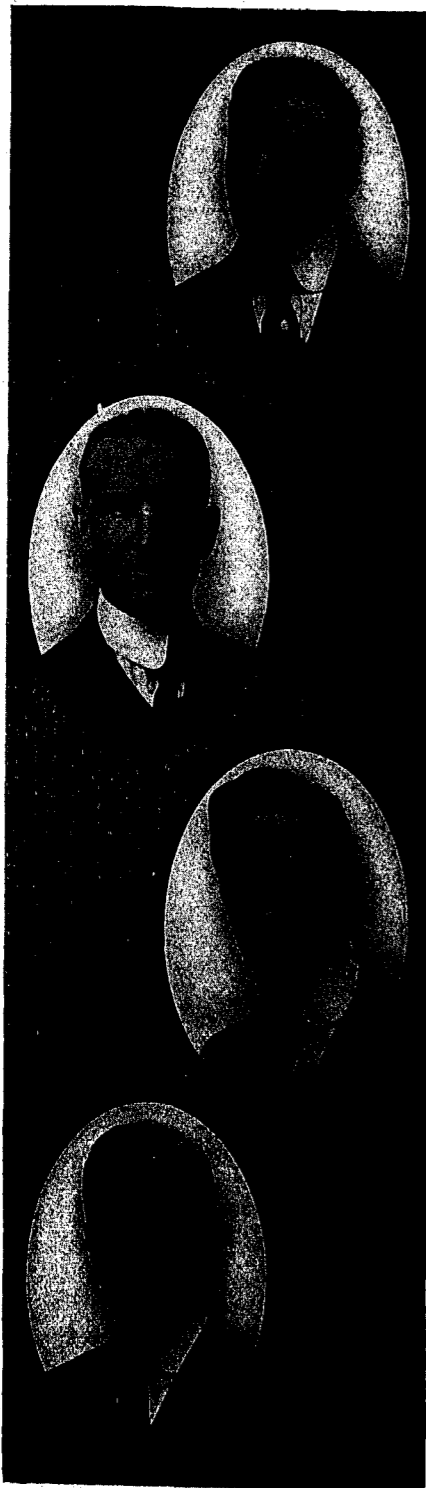

If he wants to use his brother for a handy reference library, what is there proHibbitts?

JOHN DANIEL KERN
Palmyra, Missouri.
Philomathian; Minister; President Philomathians; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '15-'16; Big Brothers Club; Die Zwei und Vierzig Bruderschaft.

*This somnolent fellow called Kern
Hath a nature of very odd turn,
And it seems that he doesn't give a "dern."*

WILLIAM RAYMOND BALLINGER
Novelty, Missouri.
Philomathian; German Club; Scientific Club; Assistant in Mathematics.

A mathematician and a strategist in love, who has waged a long and anxious combat with Cupid. Result uncertain.

ERMY CLEO MARET
Maysville, Missouri.
Philomathian.

All the problems we used to solve concerning the revolutions of a grindstone must have been based on fallacies. We've been watching this one and he hasn't revolved.

JULIUS ROBERT MANTEY
San Bernardino, California.

Excelsior; Minister; Co-Op Board '12-'13; Student Staff '13-'14; Tatler Staff '14-'15; Y. M. C. A. Student Volunteer Union '15-'16; German Club; Rocky Mountain Club.

I am Jewell's great Julius, nothing undervalued to Rome's great Julius in my own estimation, though I look more like Napoleon. Great in either case.

ERSKINE A. FRANKLIN
Cameron, Missouri.

KΣ.

He does not believe in preparedness or safety first.

WALTER IFLAND WELDEN
Long Beach, California.

Excelsior; German Club; Rocky Mountain Club; National Guard; Scientific Club.

*I have made a marvelous invention
Which produces real osseous tissue,
And without right serious intention
Myself am become its first issue*

J. R. HIBBITTS, Jr.
Union City, Tennessee.
KA; Assistant in Physics; Dutch Club; Fle Club; Scientific Club.

*Look him well o'er and you shall find
In science only he is a "grind."*

J. H. RAMSBOTTOM
Gallatin, Missouri.
Excelsior.

*Too well I know that life is but a waking dream;
hence shall I take me back to the farm, where I may dream in peace.*

DAVID M. TROUT
Lawson, Missouri.

Philomathian; Minister; President Philomathians; Debate Committeeman '16; S. A.; Treasurer Y. M. C. A. '15-'16; Die Zwei und Vierzig Bruderschaft.

This poor "fish" has floundered along till he's through college. This is the miracle of the fish, and we hope he will furnish food for five thousand.

RICHARD O. SHANNON
Vandalia, Missouri.

Minister; Excelsior; Football Team '14-'15; Track Team '14; Athletic Board '15; "J" Club; Scientific Club; "Steno" Club; Secretary Athletic Association '15-'16.

"Dick" is our Ladies' Man. Now that he is through we can say we hope he'll make a better impression on them than he has on us.

A. B. POTTER
 Liberty, Missouri.
 Assistant in Chemistry; Dutch Club; Scientific Club; Class Basketball '12-'13-'14-'15-'16.
He's very important—even the street cars could not run through Liberty without him.

BENJAMIN THOMAS LEONARD
 Maysville, Missouri.
 Philomathian.
Got run over by "Stude" Moorman on the football field, and ever since has been accounted a great athlete.

AUSTIN TECUMSEH WILKINSON
 Liberty, Missouri.
 Excelsior; Minister; Assistant in Mathematics; Executive Committee Missionary Society.
*They've moved away the barber shops
 And hid my old razor!
 But I've advanced by flips and flops
 And sid the college through!
 So now for all us Senior "fops"
 I bid you all Adieu.*

E. J. POWELL
 Liberty, Missouri
*He's quite a famous Lecturer, sure,
 This man of tragic acowl!
 But for his fame he needs a cure—
 Perhaps needs less of Powell.*

EDWARD VINCENT MILLER
 Pleasant View, Kentucky.
*I am a son of "Old Kentuck"
 (You'd know that, anyway!)
 From hot-shot questions I can duck
 And sometimes get away.*

CHASTAIN GAIN T HARREL
 Liberty, Missouri.
 Philomathian.
Wrote a 12,000-word essay in Sociology all in vain.

ARTHUR LOWELL DAVIS
 Liberty, Missouri.
 Philomathian; Scientific Club; Dutch Club; Buttinsky; Assistant in Chemistry '13-'14-'15-'16; Class Basketball '15-'16.
I will give you the chemico-physico-mathematical formula for anything but making love.

CARL O. BROWN
 Lemoore, California.
 Excelsior; Minister; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '14-'15-'16; President Y. M. C. A. '16; Glee Club '13-'14-'15-'16; Chapel Pianist '12-'13-'15-'16; California Club; Buttinsky; Die Zwei und Vierzig Bruderschaft.
"Speaks an infinite deal of nothing."

GEORGE CLYDE FAULKNER
Urich, Missouri.

Excelsior; Minister; Intercollegiate Debater '14-'15; Intersociety Debater; Wreath and Mallet Society; Kansas City Club; Student Volunteer.

I have moved among my fellows as an enigma—a veritable skullecok playing between wisdom and folly.

ROY THOMAS MARR
Liberty, Missouri.

Class Basketball, '13-'14-'15-'16; Co-Op Board '15-'16; Dutch Club.

We shall not do him slander but true praise: He's noted for his odd and boisterous ways.

RAYMOND H. EWING
Moline, Missouri.

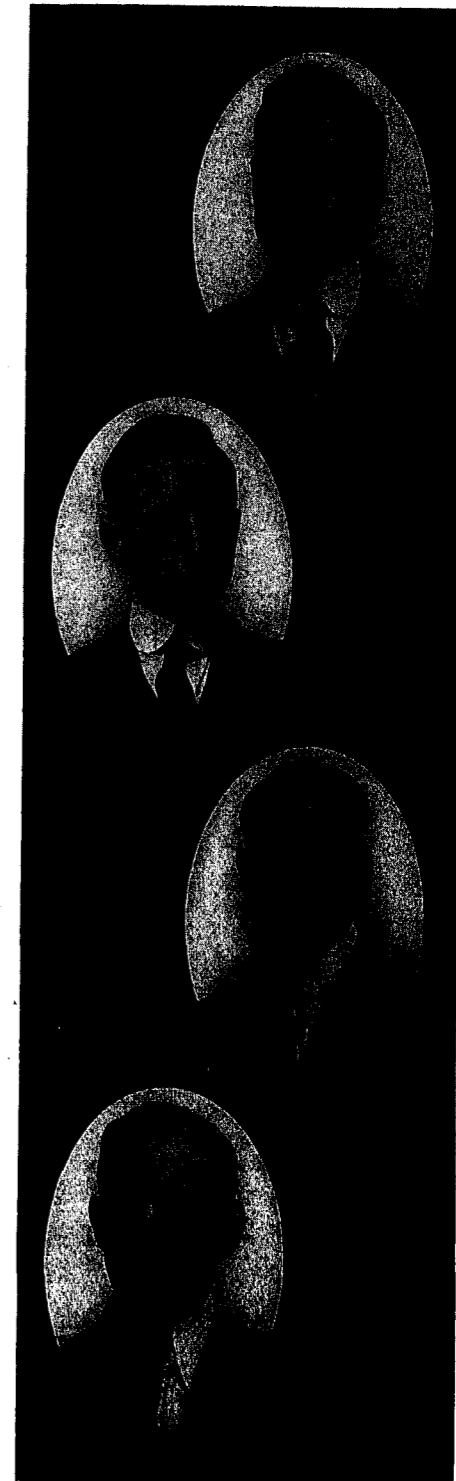

Philomathian; Minister; Aeon; Y. M. C. A.; President '15-'16; Secretary '14-'15; Student Volunteer; Athletic Board; Football Team '13-'14-'15; Emblem Club; S. A.; President Junior Class; Assistant in Chemistry; Buttinsky; Scientific Club;

Lo! I have made a bargain with the Lord: He hath helped me on the gridiron and I shall help him on the mission field.

CLIFTON ORNAL STOUT
Hardland, Missouri.

Excelsior; Minister; Secretary Prohibition Society.

I don't believe any man should take his full number of hours. At last I've convinced Dr. Fleet that he shouldn't—be so strict.

DAVID WILLIAM JONES
Atlanta, Missouri.

Excelsior; Minister; D. A. R. History Medal '13-'14; Glee Club '14-'15; St. Louis Club; S. A.; Cosmopolitan Club; Die Zwei und Vierzig Bruderschaft; "Steno" Club; Student Staff '14-'15-'16.

*I really wonder if the boys
Do pay attention to my noise,
For reason forces me to think
I am an obscure bee, by jink.
But handsome is as handsome does,
So round about their heads I buzz.*

JOHN BERTWELL EWING
Moline, Missouri.

Philomathian; Tatler Staff '15-'16; Student Staff '14-'15-'16; Intercollegiate Debater '15-'16; Wreath and Mallet Society; Buttinsky; Prohibition League; Scientific Club; German Club.

And now I'm through, and I wonder if I've really earned my degree or more than dipped the surface of scholastic life.

EMMET H. HOOD
Smithton, Missouri.

Excelsior; Basketball '13-'14-'15; Football '14-'15; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '13-'14; Co-Op Manager '13-'14; Student Council '14-'15; Tatler Staff '14-'15.

Gone, but not forgotten.

W. M. BENNETT
Dayville, Oregon.

Excelsior; Minister; Class Basketball '13-'14; Varsity Basketball '15; Tatler Staff; Student Poetry Prize '14-'15.

To prove that I know my own mind I have betaken myself back to the haunts of Gara'to.

PORTER M. WALDRON
Kansas City, Missouri.
Assistant in Chemistry; Scientific Club; Class
Basketball '13-'14-'15; German Club; Kansas City Club.

He's very much given to interurban flirtations and is known as a protector of the fair sex.

LYNN WOODARD FARRAR
Braymer, Missouri.
KA; Football Team '14-'15, '15-'16 (Captain);
Track Team '13-'14-'15-'16 (Captain '15); Class
Basketball '11-'15-'16; Quo Vadis Club; German Club; Scientific Club; President Senior Class.

"DAD" BOWLES

THERE is no doubt that Jewell always produces a goodly supply of material from which to form the athletic teams that we put out, but to "Dad" Bowles really belongs the credit of making our teams what they are. "Dad" is one of Jewell's sons, having graduated with the class of '12. He was immediately offered the position of athletic director in his Alma Mater, which he accepted.

It was in the spring of '13 that "Dad" got his first taste of championship diet, and it agreed with him so well that he has just kept right on winning. The track team of that year ran away with the State Meet and thereby established a precedent for later teams which has never since been departed from. It may incidentally be remarked that not only have the Jewell track teams won the state meet for the last four years, but they have brought home every cup and trophy that has been offered in connection with these meets.

In 1914 his proteges won a dual meet from Baker University, and his latest track achievement was a defeat of the speedy Kansas State Normal relay team in an indoor meet in Kansas City last winter.

In football he has produced two championship teams in four years and in 1914 lost the title to Missouri Wesleyan by a close score. The teams of 1913 and 1915 not only took the state titles, but went through the season undefeated by any conference team.

In baseball, Jewell rooters have long ago forgotten the poignant sting of defeat. The 1914 nine won the state championship and only lost one game, while the 1915 aggregation went their predecessors one better and took the pennant without dropping a contest throughout the season. Prospects for a winning nine for the present year are most encouraging, and Mr. Bowles modestly acknowledges that he hopes to make it three straight in baseball.

Basketball seems to be the only vulnerable spot in Bowles' coaching armor, and in this division of sport he has failed to land a championship, although his quintet is always a potent factor in the race.

"Of which feat are you the most proud," Mr. Bowles was asked, "the winning of the 1915 football championship, or the advent of Robert Earl, Jr., into the world?"

Mr. Bowles hesitated and appeared to be considerably embarrassed.

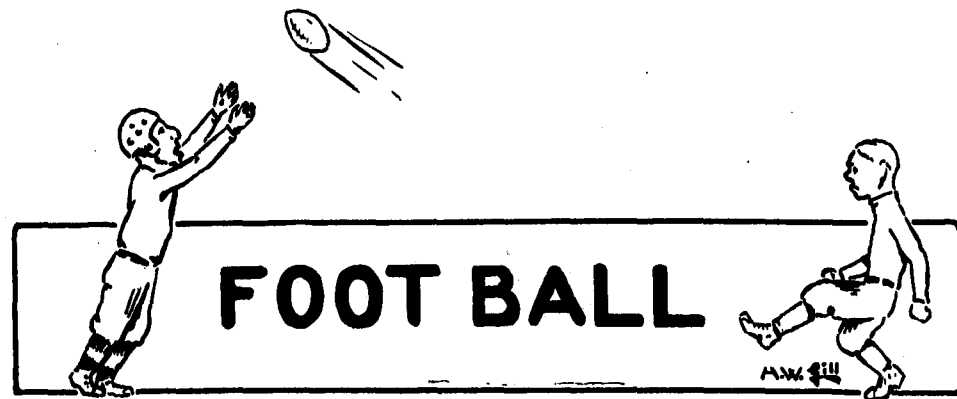

"Well," he meditated, "they are both important achievements, but I believe of the two I prefer this youngster; partly because he is the more permanent of the two honors, and then again, you see, he establishes my undisputed right to the name of 'Dad'."

R. W. BELL

TOO much credit cannot be given "Indian" Bell and "Stuffy" Waterman for the remarkable showing we made this year in football. "Indian" was out of the game this year because of his health and "Stuffy" was ineligible because of having played professional baseball. These men took charge of the second string men and worked them into such good shape that any afternoon the scrimmage was almost the equivalent of a real game. These men are well qualified to condition other men, both of them being prominent in Jewell's former athletic activities. Bell was on the teams of '12 and '13 and was All-Missouri end in '13. Waterman was on the teams of '13 and '14 and was an All-Missouri tackle in '14. "Indian" holds the state two-mile record and broke the mile and the half-mile records and was captain of our 1913 track team. He was on the basketball teams of '13 and '14 and was our all-around athlete in '14.

Such spirit as will cause men to put on a dirty football suit and go out in the cold every afternoon, with no hope of making a team, ought to be appreciated by every William Jewell man. That spirit is what makes Jewell "the best college for men west of the Mississippi River."

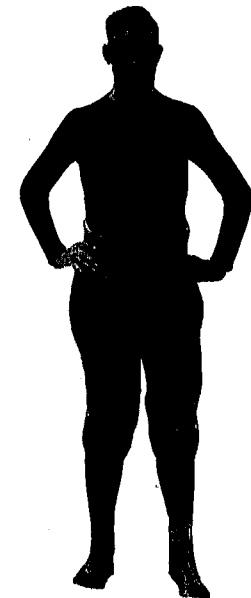

"IRISH" FARRAR

William Jewell never had a better gridiron general than Lynn Farrar. This gritty Irish youth hails from Braymer, Missouri, and his smile has decorated Jewell's athletic field for two years. But Farrar's smile is coupled with a determination and fighting spirit that are almost unconquerable and no team ever played behind a captain with more confidence and fight than did the Cardinals of 1915. "Irish" played half-back during the season of 1914 and displayed such all-around ability that when "Little" Brandom failed to return to school last fall he was given the captaincy of the 1915 team, and it was his fighting spirit that was largely responsible for the showing made by William Jewell this year.

"PETE" PETERSON

There has been in our midst during the past two years, a man whose name has almost become a by-word on the lips of every Jewell man. G. Deidlow Peterson is this gent's full moniker, but everybody just calls him plain "Pete." Peterson hit the Old Hill in the winter of '14, broke a few records on the cinder path that spring and in the following fall was a promising candidate for the football team where he met with an accident and had to retire for the entire season. This year "Pete" made good from the first, and his speedy, shifty runs featured every game we played. Early the newspaper scribes began to pick "Pete" for the All-Missouri and he had little trouble in making a half-back position on all the mythical elevens.

A Little Review of Jewell's Greatest Gridiron Season

PROSPECTS didn't look exactly what you might term bright last September in the football line. Yet somehow a few anti-pessimistical chaps in our old school did feel like we were going to have a team that would hold Kansas University to a gross of touchdowns or so. The situation was alarming, yet it didn't ring in our ears like the invaluable piece of clock-makers' art which we call "Big Ben," but it did look like we were doomed to bring up the rear in the 1915 gridiron contests.

Well, they sprang a surprise, that gridiron machine of ours, and fought Kansas University like a university team, holding the Jayhawkers to three touchdowns. Next Tarkio wandered our way and we took them to a good thrashing, 45 to 0. Everything was going good. "Speedy Pete" Peterson was skirting the ends and "Little Arthur" Strauss was plunging the line like a real football player. Moreover, the line was playing the brand of ball you read about in "Top Notch" or "The Saturday Evening Post." Central was then contended with and put out of the running to the music of 18 to 6. Westminster was met at Kansas City the following week and thrashed 20 to 0 and as a side light we crushed Kirksville Normal 28 to 0. Drury held the Cardinal bunch a little better and we had to concede them a touchdown but we defeated the Panthers by a 16 to 6 count. With this victory came the championship of Missouri but before it could rest at ease with us we had to battle our ancient rival Missouri Wesleyan on Turkey Day, and in another of the famous submarine conflicts so popular with us of late the Jewell and Wesleyan gridiron machines battled a 0-0 hopeless tie.

In summing up the 1915 season, however, let us say that never have we had a more evenly running football machine, a better collection of clean sportsmen and gentlemen, and a greater gridiron aggregation than the 1915 champions of the state of Missouri. Captain Farrar's team was a fighting team, an eleven that did not have the word quit in their vocabulary, and with the best material in "Jool's" history in the line-up, they outplayed, outbucked and outfought every team that faced them in the season of 1915.

"ROSY" O'SHANNON

The Tigers lost a valuable gridiron warrior when in 1914 Shannon decided to leave Missouri University and study for the ministry at William Jewell. The fighting Irishman has been a great cog in the Cardinal defensive machine for the past two seasons. His position is guard.

"FAINTING BERTHA" HARLE

Harle came here last spring from Cowgill, Missouri. He was a great pitcher last season and when he returned to school in the fall of '15, he came out for the backfield but "Dad" Bowles shifted him to center and at this position he played a fighting game all season.

"FUNNY" NEWPORT

Loren had his first season on the team as a regular this year. His position is guard and he plays a fierce, charging game, and knows how to rip the holes in the line. Funny was born in Conway, Missouri, and his football career at Jewell promises to be a brilliant one.

"BOLIVER" HUNTER

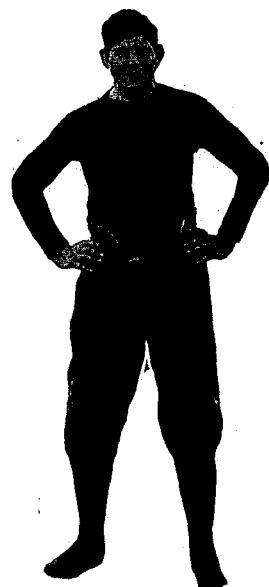

For the past two seasons Jewell has had as right guard on her football team "Boliver" Hunter. Hunter is an Oklahoma boy, hailing from Oklahoma City. He is a good all-around tackle and was the team's booter this last season. Hunter stood a good chance for all-Missouri tackle last season, but lost by a narrow margin.

THE TATLER

"ZEKE" MAYBERRY

This was Mayberry's first season on the team but he proved an invaluable man. Meyers came from Farmington, Missouri, where he starred in athletics at the local high school and when he appeared for practice last fall, "Dad" placed him at full-back, where he played all the season. Mayberry was a back-field man of A No. 1 quality.

"LITTLE ARTHUR" STRAUSS

Strauss came to William Jewell this year from Enid, Oklahoma. The big boy had a year of football experience at Phillips University before coming and his playing with us this season proved a sensation. Weighing almost two hundred pounds, exceedingly clever on his feet, "Little Arthur" was one of the best line plungers and defensive players we have ever had.

"CHET" MAGILL

During Magill's career as an athlete here at Jewell, he has played both half-back, full-back, quarter-back and end, and he has proven a star at each position. "Chet" was captain of the 1914 aggregation and his generalship helped William Jewell to make such a good showing that year. He is a good broken field and interference runner and a fierce tackler. This is his last year on the team but he will always be remembered in Jewell's athletic Hall of Fame. "Chet" came here from Stafford, Kansas.

RAY EWING

The past season was Ewing's third year on the Cardinal football eleven. Wheaton made a hero of Ewing in '14 because of his gritty playing and Ray has been noted for his fight ever since. He graduates this year and Jewell will lose one of the hardest working ends she ever had. Ewing came from Paris, Missouri.

THE TATLER

"VERG" NEWPORT

This big husky athlete has been gradually developing until this year he proved an excellent football player. Newport played tackle and helped Jewell's invincible line tear up many an old team during the season just past. He is a brother of "Funny" Newport and claims Conway, Missouri, as his home. We lose Virgil this year by graduation.

"FERGE" FERGUSON

"Pete" Peterson's understudy during the past season was Otto Ferguson of Iberia, Missouri. "Ferge" broke into the big league in 1914 and during the '14 and '15 seasons he was one of Jewell's most reliable backfield men, playing both half-back and quarter. Ferguson has a great outlook for the future in Jewell athletic activities.

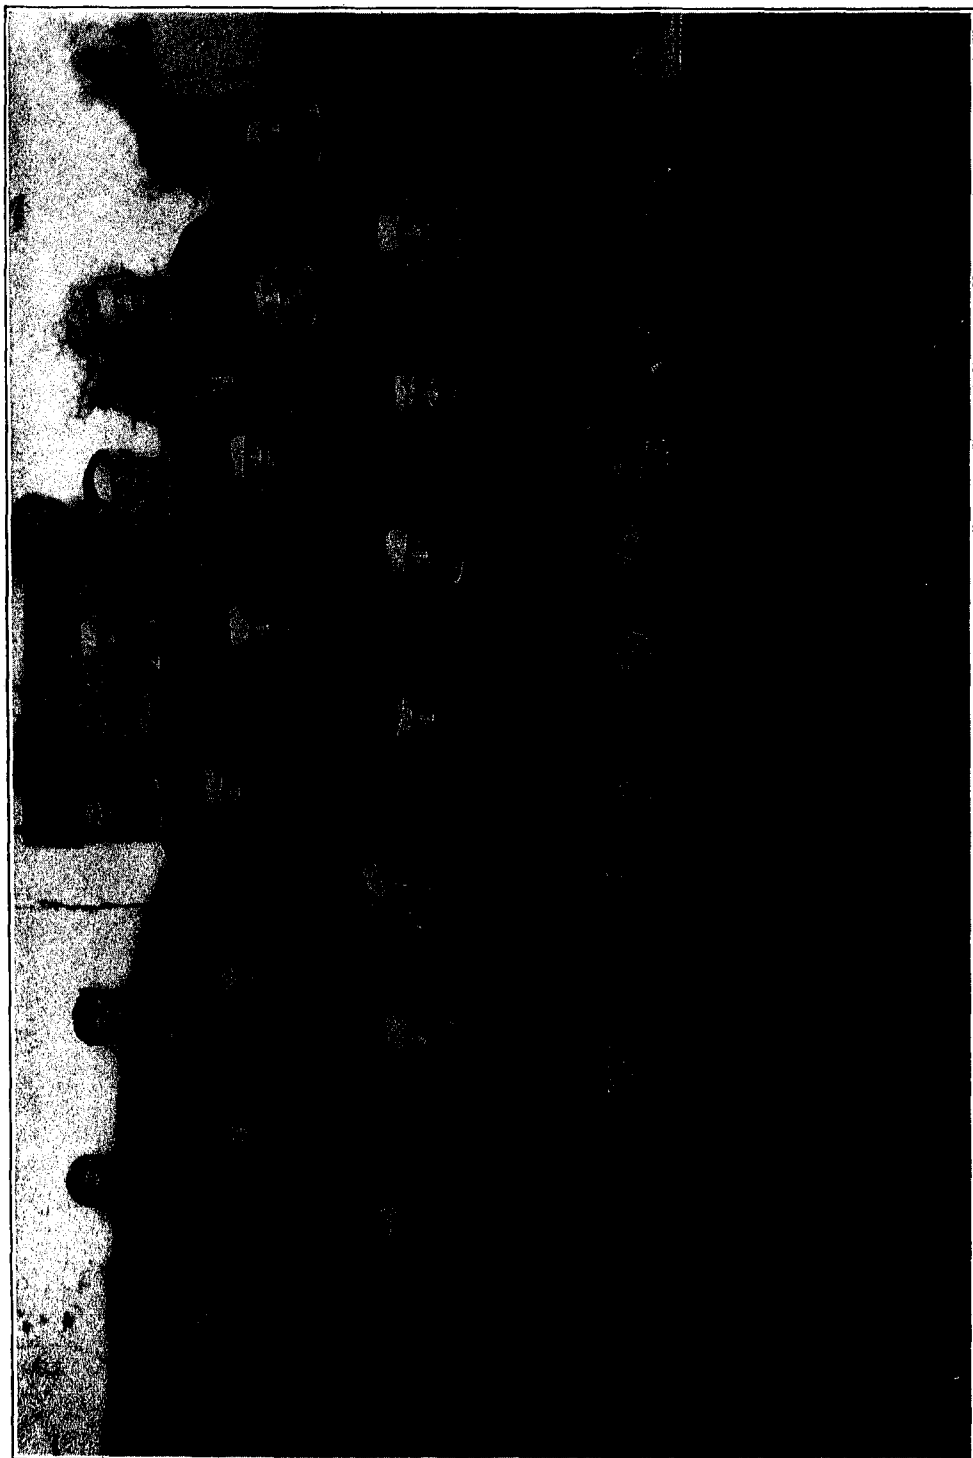

"DUTCH" KLEIN

Karl Klein played his second season on Jewell's football eleven this year. The Braymer, Missouri, lad is a fighter all the way and it was "Dutch" whose fierce tackling from the end position helped make the 1915 William Jewell football machine such a great defensive combination.

"PARSON" HAMPTON

To have a big team that really counts for anything in football, you have to have some big, brawny men to compose it. Tall of stature, broad of shoulder, and with muscles of steel, Hampton made an indispensable linesman and tackle. Hampton came here from Odessa, Missouri, and has several years of athletic activity ahead of him.

BASKET BALL

A.W. Gill

IRA WOLFE

Wolfe had the unique distinction of being elected captain of the basketball team after his first year of play as a regular. Although he did not play the game he was capable of all season, he did prove a mighty good leader and an excellent captain all the way. When Wolfe did get to going he was extremely hard to stop and it is a safe bet to say that if he had been right in every game we would have won them all. Wolfe will be with us again next season and the new captain will have Ira as well as the rest of this year's squad to help weave a championship team out of in the season of 1916-17.

"BOLIVER" HUNTER

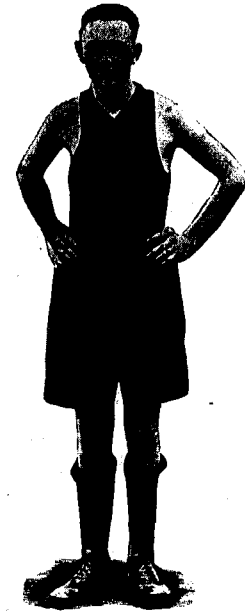

The team of 1916-17 is assured of one thing, and that is that it will have a good leader in the person of "Boliver" Hunter. He is a man of ideal stature and has a world of basketball ability. He is a veteran at the game and with his steady, consistent playing every Jewell man may rest assured that everything will be done that will help give us a winning team next year. "Boliver" was out of the game a part of the time this year because of injuries received on the court, but even at that he was the man that they were all talking about. He plays forward.

THE TATLER

"TOMMY" THOMAS
"A good center and a good basket-shooter."

"CACTUS C. C." CHURCH
"A speedy guard who knows how to hit the goals."

"KING" DAVID
"A good guard, an excellent man on the court."

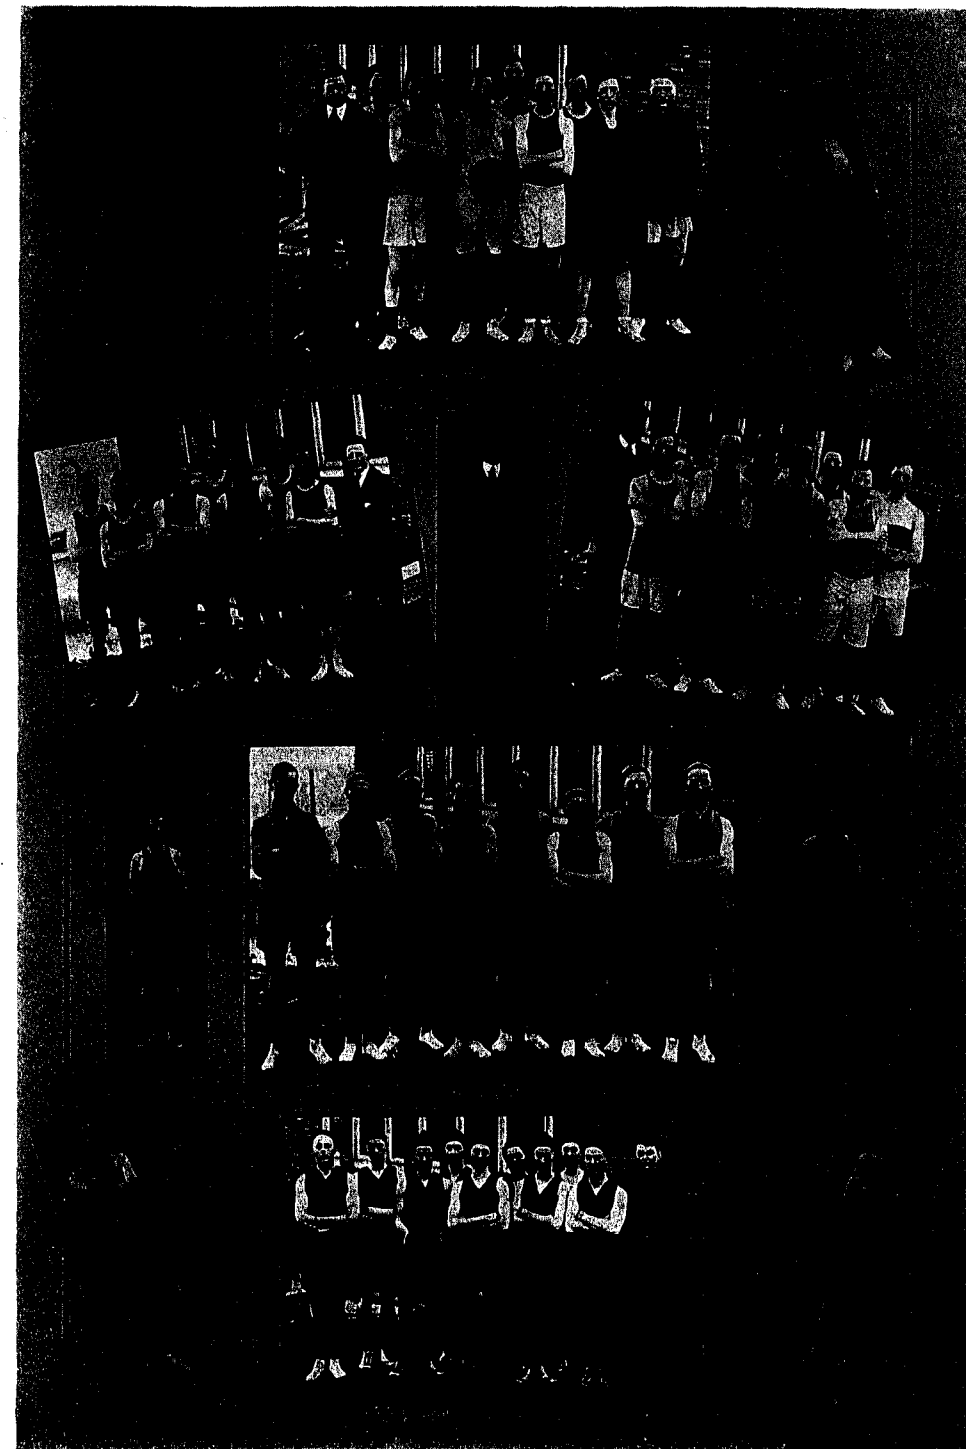

"WILKEY" WILKINSON
"A good all-round center who fights all the time."

"CHARLEY-HORSE" EVANS
"He is little but a clever man on the court and a good goal-shooter."

Basket Ball 1915-16

JEWELL'S efforts at the indoor sport the past season were not very successful from the standpoint of games won and lost, but it was not altogether disheartening and the outlook for next season is all the brighter. The team was a good one this year, as teams go, but they did not get together and so display their full strength until the season was most over. The Cardinal quintet began the schedule by trimming the Missouri Wesleyan crowd by a large score. Tarkio and Maryville, however, gave us a double drubbing, beating us both at home and on the road. After we had given Wesleyan another drubbing the Jewell five invaded Fayette and the Central Eagles split a couple of contests with us. Polytech also divided two games with the Cardinal crew and then on the southern invasion to Springfield we dropped two contests, one to the Drury Panthers and another to the Normals. Then the real worth of the team began to manifest itself and in the very last game of the season, the contest with Drury, the William Jewell team came across with the brand of basketball that is unbeatable, and on the afternoon of the interstate oratorical contest we trounced the Drury Panthers on the home court, a pleasing surprise to the Jewell rooters as well as a disappointment to the Springfieldites who had hopes of a championship. It was a hard-luck season, but it brought out the fact that we had the "goods" after all and that if we had but put forth the best that was in us we would have landed a good deal nearer the top in the 1916 race.

"BRICK" CARBOUGH

Glen Carbough first enlisted in the National Pastime at William Jewell in the spring of 1913. The peppery auburn-haired youth began his career as center-fielder, but soon graduated to the third base and stuck there for two years. "Brick" was elected to captain last year's team and he made good as a leader of the fighting type. His position last season was short-stop, and the balls never had too much speed for the clever, lightning-like action of "Brick." When "Brick" first appeared in a suit he looked like a mere kid and the pitcher smiled at him when the little red-head came up to bat. However his grin was changed quickly to chagrin when the little fellow slammed a clean hit to left field. During "Brick's" four years on the team he could always be counted on to deliver the goods in the pinches. Carbough was the best all-round baseball player we have had for many days. An excellent fielder, a good hitter and a good leader.

"SLIM" BROWN

Norman Brown first unpacked his trunks in Liberty, Mo., in 1913. He began his baseball career the following spring and the big left-handed pitcher was heralded by everyone as a comer. Last season Brown alternated with Harle and Lantz in the pitching department and held his own in every game he hurled. While not occupied in the pitcher's box, "Slim" was pastiming in the correct, or rather, right garden, and proved an excellent fielder. But "Slim" is not merely a pitcher and fielder of note, he is one of the best batters we have had, and the big boy has driven in many runs during his baseball career. By the election of "Slim" Brown as captain of the 1916 baseball nine, we were assured of an excellent leader.

Looking at the 1915 Baseball Season

THE men that went out for baseball in 1915 went out with a determination to win and it seems that they had little trouble in walking off with the championship. The Kansas City Blues were taken on for a practice game before the regular season opened and the American Association team was held to a low score. Then we began thrashing everything that came along and when the season closed we had not lost a single game; a new record in the history of Jewell athletics. Maryville, Tarkio, Missouri Wesleyan, Central and Westminster all went under before the Cardinal sluggers and every victory was clean-cut and undisputed.

Harle was easily the stellar performer of the season and he came to our rescue just at the time we were bemoaning the loss of "Lefty" Masters. Lantz and Brown also pitched well and the team played together as a machine. "Brick" Carbough led his men a merry chase and it was his clever, hard hitting that started many a rally. We had last year an exceptional team in that it could hit as well as field the ball with accuracy. It was also an exceptional team in that two ex-captains, Godfriaux and Lantz, held down regular positions.

Less hits were gotten off pitcher Harle than off any other pitcher in William Jewell's athletic history and we had an over-abundance of catchers for the first time in years, one receiver having to be banished to the outfield. With the best team in our history, we went through the best season of our history and won another baseball championship in 1915.

HENRY GODFRIAUX (ex-Captain)

For seven long years Godfriaux has held down the initial sack for William Jewell, the best first baseman in the M. I. A. A. without a question. Henry played his position as only a high class player could play it and was anchor man for the team at all times. His hitting was extraordinary and timely.

ANDY LANTZ (ex-Captain)

Lantz completed his fourth year of play on the Jewell field last year. "Poop" started in as a pitcher and held down that position off and on during his entire quartet of years in the service. When not on duty on the mound he may usually be found around second base. Andy is a good batter and it was his slashing bingle that broke up the championship Jewell-Warrensburg game of 1914.

"BOLIVER" HUNTER

Last year was Hunter's first year on the team. He plays first base and field. The big boy is a good fielder and a fair batter and knows how to run the bases in proper style.

"FAINTING" HARLE

Harle is one of the best pitchers that has ever decorated Jewell's baseball mound. The Cowgill boy won every game he pitched in the M. I. A. A. last year and the ones to hit safely off his delivery were few and far between. Also he is no slouch when it comes to hitting.

THE TATLER

"HALLY" HALLIBURTON

When Creel was laid up by sickness, in stepped Mr. Haliburton and did full justice to the third base job. He is a clean steady baseball player and will be a valuable man to the team this year.

"DON" MORRELL

Morrell plays in the garden beyond the base lines, but he can also catch a few now and then. "Don" was pulling off sensational catches from his place in the outfield time after time last season and his hitting was at the right time and his licks told.

"SKEETER" CRAWFORD

This little catcher was the mainstay of the team last season. His catching was of superior quality and his hitting was opportune and clever. "Skeeter" held the speedy Harle as nobody else could and was an invaluable asset to our team.

86

"JUDGE" CREEL

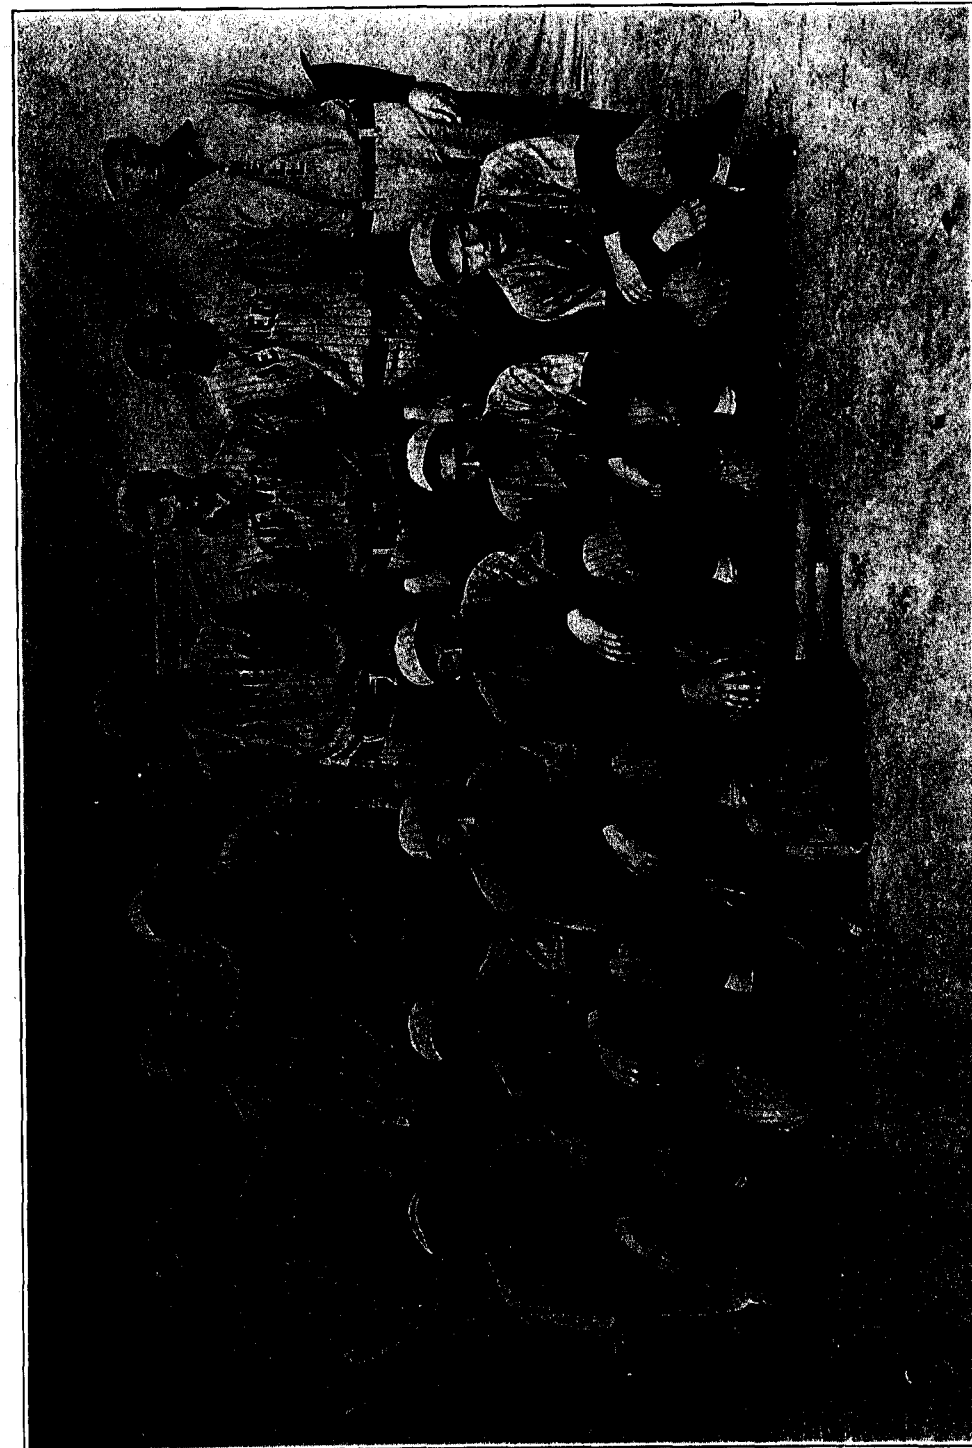

Creel was a new man on the team last year but he certainly had the stuff. He held down the third sack and his speed and nimbleness caused him to be ranked among the best fielders in the Valley last year. "Judge" didn't have a mean looking batting average, either.

"KING" DAVID

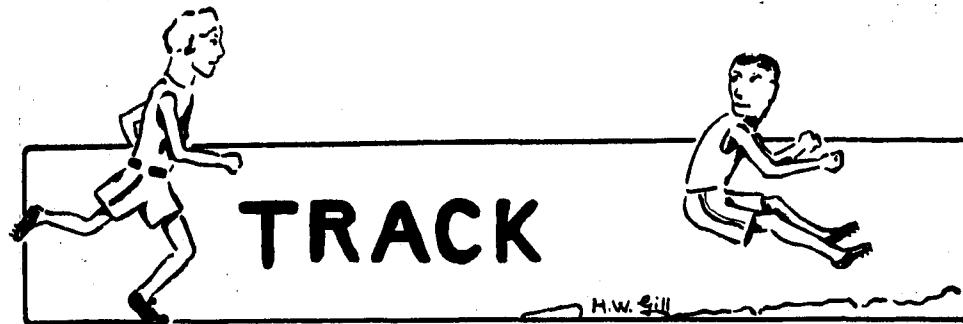

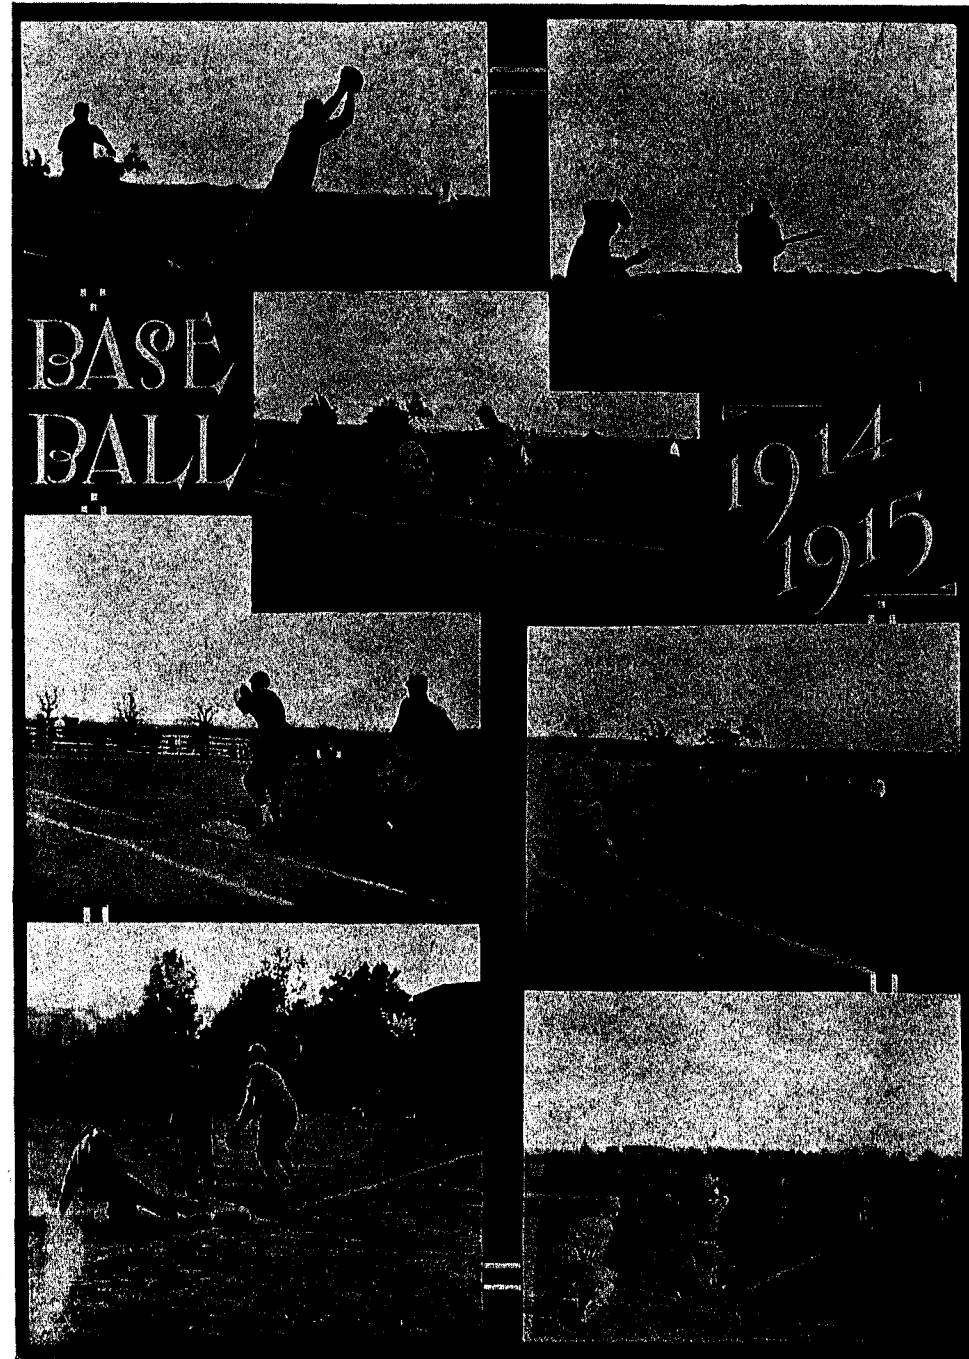

David is a good batter and a fair fielding outfielder of the corner type. He will undoubtedly develop into an excellent outfielder before this season is over.

THE TATLER

87

1916

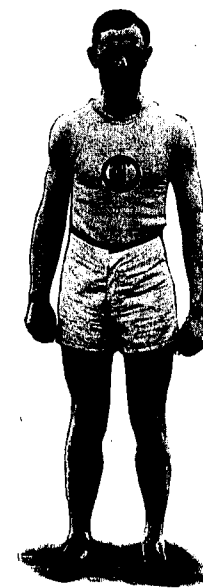

"IRISH" FARRAR

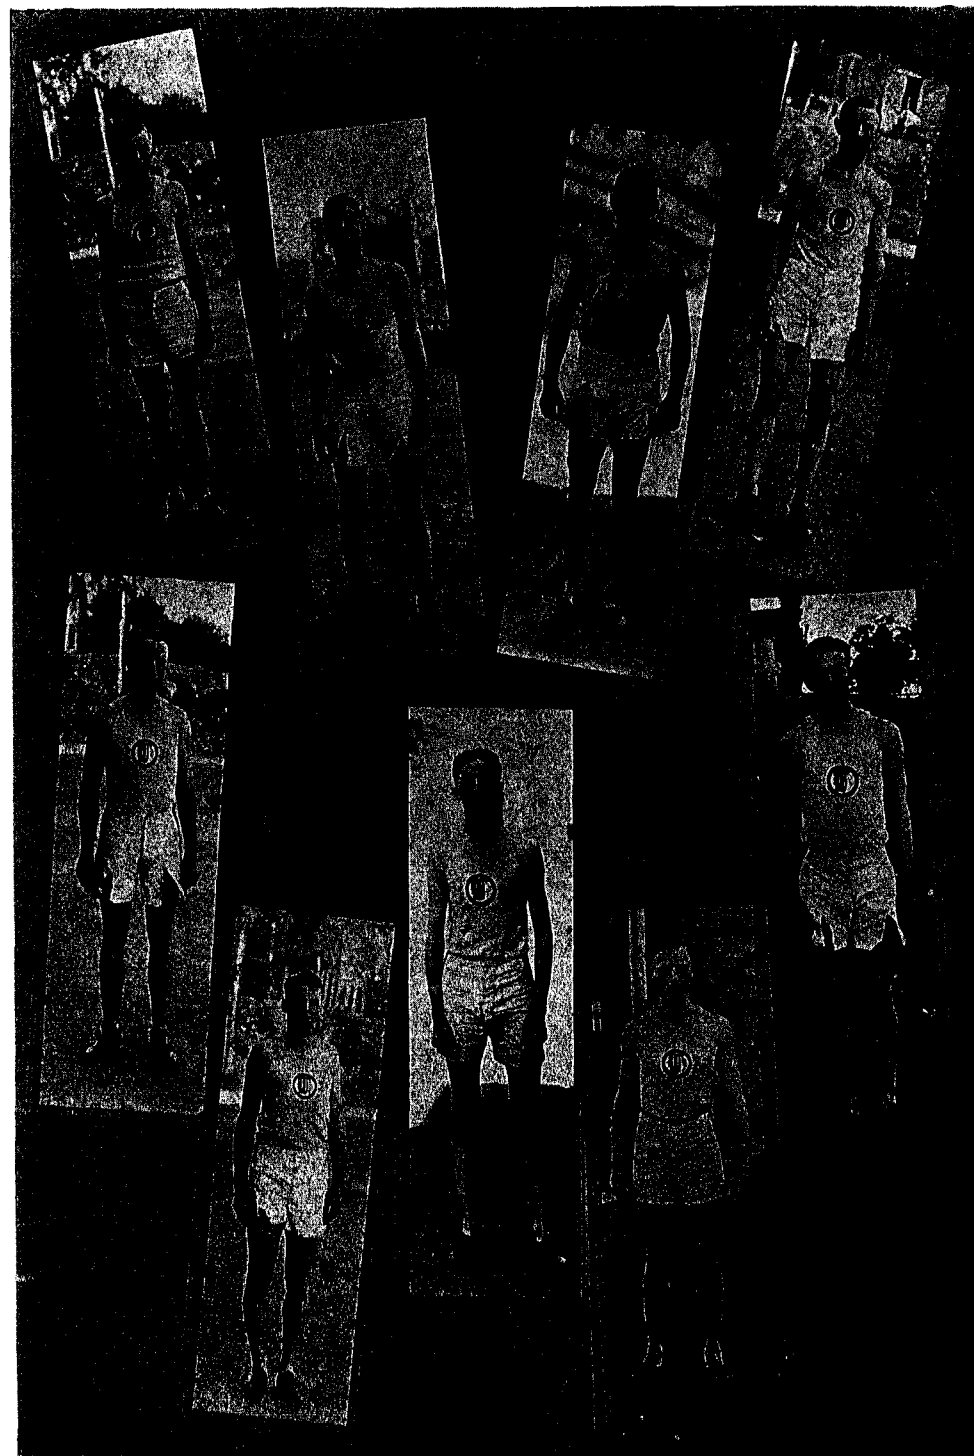

At the close of the 1914 track season "Irish" Farrar was chosen to captain the 1915 track team. This had been his first year on the team but he showed himself a marvel on the cinder path all season. Lynn is a runner of the fighting, never-give-up type and in the half-mile and relays he proved invincible. He broke both the William Jewell and the state half-mile records while he was with us and leaves many memories of his brilliant runs behind him. He proved one of Jewell's greatest athletes and sportsmen. We never had any cleaner sport than "Irish" Farrar. Whether on the gridiron, on the track, or on the old Hill, he was always the same true gentleman. It will be a great loss to William Jewell athletics when the scrappy Irishman leaves us this year via the graduation route and departs for greater things in the big wide world.

"PETE" PETERSON

Our cinder path general this year was "Pete" Peterson. He could not compete this season but his past record speaks for itself. Twice the blonde speed boy from Oklahoma went down to the state meet and carried off the individual honors. Not only did he do that, but he broke all records in the hundred here at school and going to the state meet showed all the other Missouri college athletes his heels in the century dash to the tune of ten seconds flat.

Peterson's events are the one hundred and the two hundred twenty yard dashes, the low hurdles, high jump and the broad jump and he is a sure point-winner in each. Without doubt "Pete" is the fastest man our school has ever boasted of and an all-round athlete that classes with the best in the Valley. "Pete" was justly entitled to be chosen as our 1916 track captain and our only regret is that this is his last season as a cinder path artist at William Jewell.

The 1915 Track Record

JEWELL'S track prowess continued last season and we again won the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association track championship for the fourth consecutive time. The meet last year was held at Springfield. Drury was counting on winning this to the extent that they dropped baseball so that all their energy might be used in preparation for the meet, but the Cardinal athletes were too much for them and they were forced to take a distant second place in the contest.

For the second year in succession "Pete" Peterson won the individual loving cup. The flashy Oklahoman took the century dash, placed in the broad jump and two-twenty, and took first in the low hurdles.

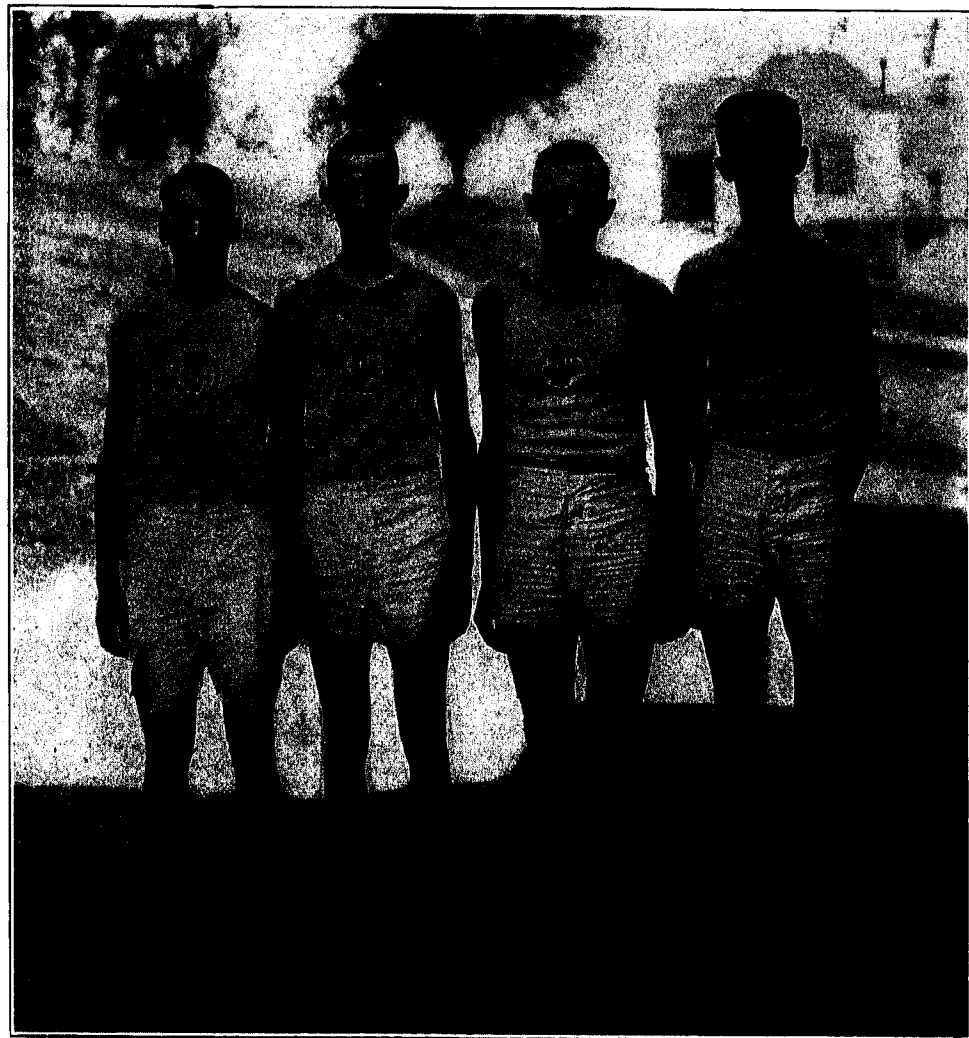

Creel, Koons, Geissing, Farrar; Sims, Creel, Koons, and Farrar, the two relay teams had no trouble in winning the relays and "Irish" Farrar romped off with the half-mile. Wolfe did his part in the pole vault, while Wilkinson easily won the high jump. It was a clean Jewell victory and our long chain of track championships received another link in 1915.

Early in the season the track team journeyed over to Baldwin and took on the Baker Collegians, but the Jewell crew were not in the best of condition and Baker carried off the meet by the score of 73½ to 27½.

Captain Farrar's team was an excellent track aggregation which came fully up to the standard of William Jewell cinder path organizations. It was weak only in the distance and weight events but in all the other departments the team had wonderful ability and as a whole it was a well-trained, capable and aggressive track team that carried the Jewell colors through to another championship in 1915.

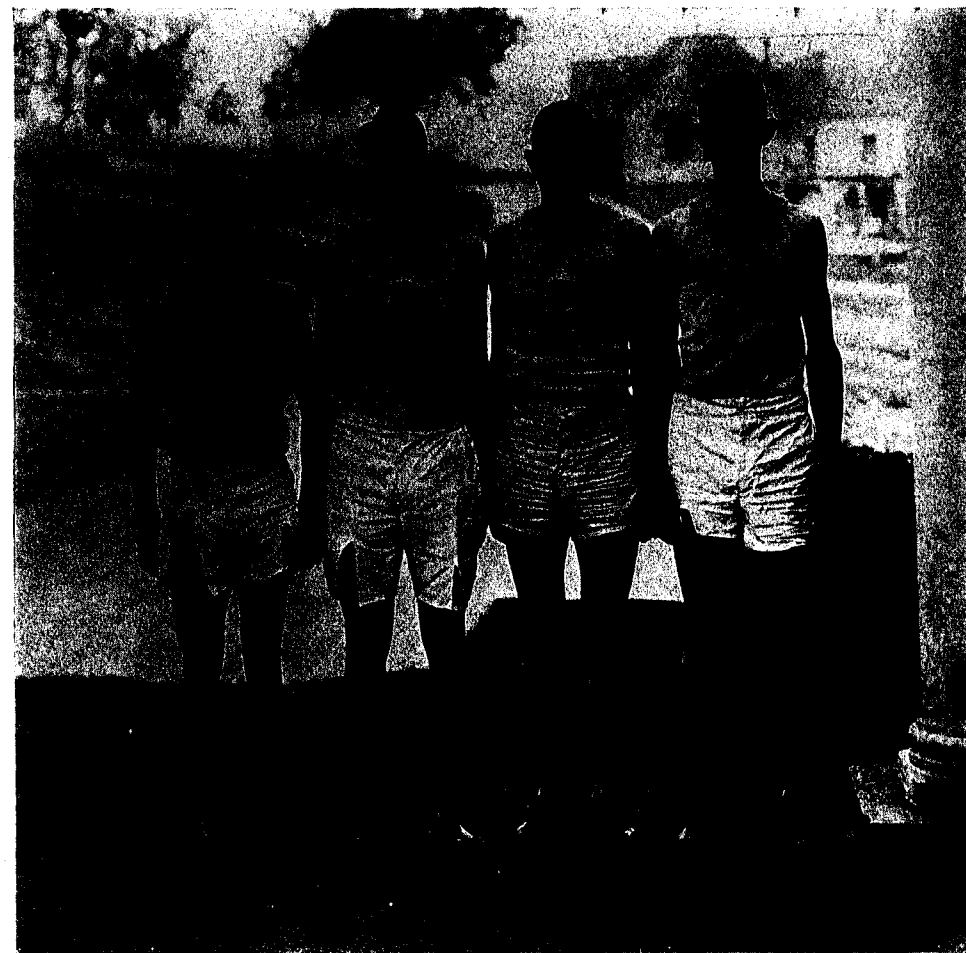

The team was composed of the following men: Peterson in dashes, hurdles and jumps; Sims in relay, hurdles, and jump; Capt. Farrar in relay, quarter, and half mile; Bell in the weights; Koons in the quarter, jump and relay; Morrison in the distance runs; Wolfe in the pole vault; Wilkinson in the jumps; Geissing in the hurdles and relay; Creel in the quarter and relay; and VanHook in the quarter mile.

Tennis

It was only last year that tennis was admitted in the line of athletics in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association and as yet William Jewell has done very little in it, but the prospects are good for a winning team this year. The courts are in good shape and with a goodly crew of men working out it looks as though we are going to do in tennis just what we are doing in the other lines, namely, "clean up."

DR. ELMER C. GRIFFITH

FOR several years Dr. E. C. Griffith has devoted his talent and inspiration unselfishly to the cause of debating and oratory. This advice and direction has come at the solicitation of the Joint Session of the Senior literary societies. Dr. Griffith has received no compensation for his services and until recently has received no official title. In the present school year, Dr. Griffith has been appointed Faculty Chairman of Debate and Oratory.

Dr. Griffith has been actively identified with debate and oratory since 1905 and in the ten years William Jewell College has made wonderful strides in the line of forensics. Since 1905 William Jewell has participated in 29 debates and has won twenty decisions. In oratory we have won five firsts, two seconds and two thirds since 1907. We have been represented in the Peace Contest three times and have taken second place each time. In the Prohibition Oratorical we entered last year and won second place. For this achievement in forensics, the honor is largely due to the efforts and coaching of Dr. E. C. Griffith.

The debaters and orators of past and present years wish to manifest their appreciation of the assistance and direction of their coach, Dr. Elmer C. Griffith.

Inter-Collegiate Debating and Oratory

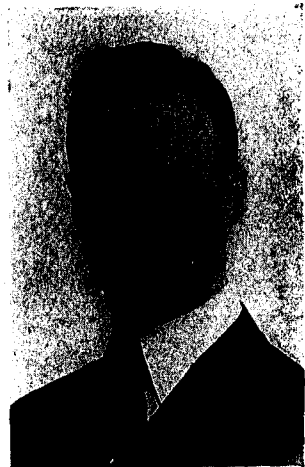

THE season of debating and oratory was inaugurated by the meeting of the Missouri Oratorical Association in Liberty, on March 2, 1916. William Jewell was the host to the Association. J. E. Bell, '17, was the president of the Association. E. Granville Ewing, '19, was the representative of the college and won first place. By virtue of winning the state contest, Mr. Ewing represented the state of Missouri in the Eastern Division of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest at Athens, Ohio, on April 7, 1916.

Mr. Guy V. Price, '16, represented the college in the Missouri Intercollegiate Prohibition Oratorical at Fayette, Mo., on April 11, and also in the Missouri Peace Oratorical Contest at Liberty on April 21, 1916.

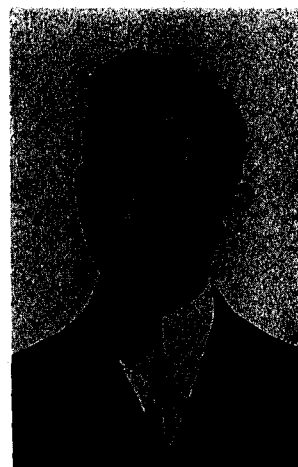

Three experienced debaters were returned this year and around them were built three teams to represent the college in debate. The schedule includes Columbia University, New York City, N. Y.; Kansas Wesleyan University, Salina, Kan.; Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Colo.; and Drury College, Springfield, Mo. The college was especially fortunate in securing a contract with the Columbia University team, Liberty being its first stop on its transcontinental debating trip.

Last summer one of William Jewell's debates appeared in book form in Intercollegiate Debates, Volume 5. It is the debate on "Government Ownership of the Express Business." The team whose debates are thus honored was composed of G. Elton Harris '15, Alan F. Wherritt '17 and J. H. Pollard '15. This is no unusual honor for our debating record has been of a high order. Volumes 2 and 3 of the same series contain other William Jewell debates and bibliography. One debate of the College has been published in the Congressional Record.

The coach of the debate teams and orators is Dr. E. C. Griffith, under whose direction a most gratifying record has been made for the college. He is the Missouri state chairman of the Intercollegiate Peace Contest.

Oratory

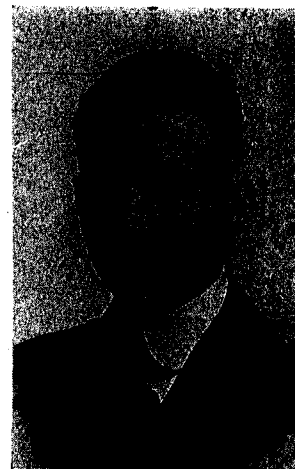

GRANVILLE EWING '19, won the local oratorical contest with "The Other Child." Mr. Ewing also won first place in the state contest. In the Peace Contest of last Commencement, Guy V. Price '16, won first place with "The Suicide of Civilization." He represented the college in the State Contest held in Liberty, April 21st.

Mr. Price also represented the college in the State Prohibition Oratorical, having won the local contest. His oration was "The Social Conscience."

Mr. J. E. Bell '17, was the committeeman for local orator and was also the president of the Missouri Oratorical Association. Mr. Bell will accompany Mr. Ewing to Athens, Ohio, as the Missouri committeeman.

The William Jewell Student

THE William Jewell Student is a journal that every William Jewell man should justly be proud of. It leads all other magazines west of the Mississippi as a college magazine. The year 1915-16 has been a banner year for the Student. It has maintained twelve pages of the things of the college that every Jewell man was interested in. It has been four pages larger and fifty cents cheaper in the subscription price than ever before. This has been due to the untiring efforts of the editor-in-chief, Hal C. Head, and the efficient business management of L. S. Conner, assisted by every man on the staff. The staff worked with a united front in the production of the best Student in the history of the college.

Supporting as it does clean athletics, good scholarship, sincere and devout religion, and the highest interests of the college, it is to be hoped that the Student will continue to live and grow in the lives of William Jewell men.

Young Men's Christian Association

AT the beginning of the school year the Y. M. C. A cabinet members were on the job and have made their efforts effective in all of the religious activities throughout the entire school year. The year started with the best of preparation and well-defined policies for each committee. Several gospel teams were sent out at different times during the year with gratifying results. Mission study took an advance step, due to a series of lectures on the Development of Missions, given by Dr. Evans. A series of religious meetings was held in the college by "Dad" Elliot, resulting in "Dad's" usual success.

The lecture course conducted by Mr. Crafton Tutt even surpassed the excellent standards set in previous years.

A very capable cabinet has been elected for the coming year and the prospects for the year 1916-17 are brighter than ever before.

Many years ago there was a William Jewell Missionary Society which, under the leadership of Prof. A. J. Emerson, did a noble work in and around Kansas City. This society has been revived for co-operation with Baptist churches and mission agencies. All students who are enough in sympathy with its aims to contribute to its funds are members. Five members of its executive board are chosen by the faculty and five by the students, the president of the college, being ex-officio a member of the board and president of the society. All the money given by the members of the society to missions through the Baptist church in Liberty is turned back to the society to be used as it deems best. During the past year, workers have been sent out regularly to various fields every Sunday and one church has been organized.

The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association is now organized in 210 colleges and universities in the United States. A local league was formed in William Jewell in 1915 with Mr. W. B. Charles as president. It announced as its purpose: "To promote the broad, practical study of the liquor problem in its social and political phases and to develop leadership in the uprooting of the traffic." Thirty-seven men are now affiliated with the local league. The league acknowledges contributions for the year as follows:
 W. C. T. U., Liberty, $10 First Oratorical Prize; Mr. J. H. Whiteside, Liberty, $5, Second Prize; Mr. W. A. Crouch, Texas, $10 for oratorical training.

This club was organized last year for the purpose of stimulating family activities among the married men of William Jewell College.

Among those home providers are men who have been record breakers not only in scholastic circles, but also in family circles. As a result of careful investigation by the faculty, Mr. J. H. Payne has been voted a family "S" having the highest standing with 8 units to his credit (two boys and six girls); Capt. O. W. Stanbrough is drilling Company A with seven recruits. While Bro. Swank of the faculty goes slowly marching on, the B—hind. Mr. E. F. Estes received a grade of F., having only one unit to his credit. The number as well as the character of the pledges speaks well for the popularity of the club.

LITERARY

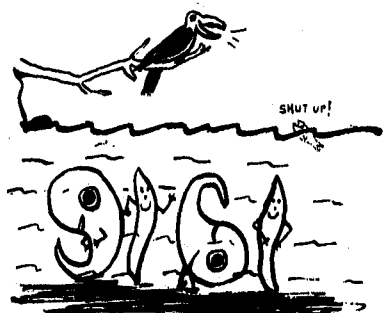

These are the random pages of story,
Told At the end of the year;
These are Tales of struggle and glory
Fraught with the Laughter and cheer
Of a battle that now is Ended and done,
Of victory in a race that is Run.

(The author begs to state that "Amusing Musings" do not pretend to be amusing in themselves. But if they are amusing it must be due to the fact that they were told me by a muse—an amusing muse, at that—or that the comedy lies in the source material.)

Now tell me, who is this bird?
It really is most absurd—
Wears a derby and carries a cane.
Truly, is he not insane?

Tut tut, and tish tish, this is no fowl,
You merely think that he's an owl;
He's of the species Derbydicks,
His genus is OneNineOneSix.

THE MILL-POND QUARTETTE

First Pollywog—The first number on the program is that pathetic little ditty, "See That Bullfrog Throwing the Bull."

First Eel—And then I do a little oriental dance, for you observe that I have no feet.

Second Pollywog—I'm quite upset about all this—in fact I'm quite upside down.

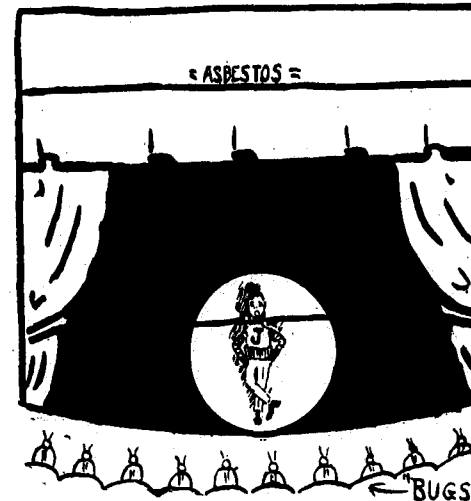

Second Eel—Lastly, an imitation of an eel, a very eely eel—in fact, a New Ely eel.

First—and only—Maggie: (Now of course we know this doesn't look like a magpie, but we never saw one and drew a sea-gull instead.) Hey, fellers, come here—this isn't any quartette at all. Turn the book upside down and have another look.

THE SPOTLIGHT.

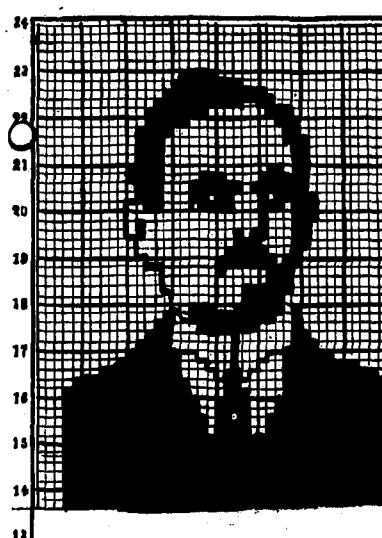

Oh, we all love the spotlight,
We crave the calcium glow;
We champ until our cue is called
And all the bugs below
Set up the old rah-rah
As we stride to the center-front,
So in the limelight they may
See us do our little stunt
And then the spot goes out
And they ring down old asbestos
And we make a hasty getaway
For fear that they'll arrest us.

Moral—if any: When your act begins to savour of the rotten, assume the hook to avoid tomatoes in the same condition as the act.

One day I mixed three liquids rare;
One red, one green, one blue;
And presently there filled the air
A haze of royal hue.

And in the fumes I did espy
One whom I thought was Ali Baba;
But lo! it moved, and then did cry:
"I am the genii of the Chema Laba."

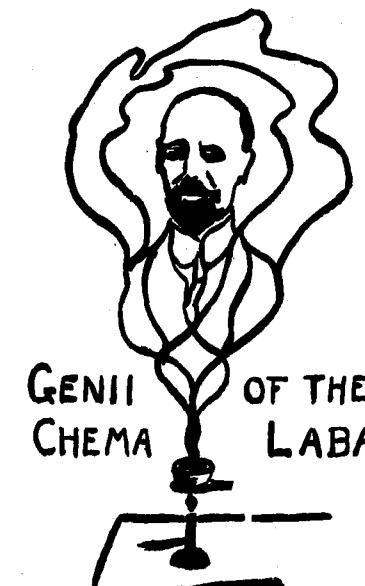

THE SONG OF THE COSINE X.

Once upon a time, in the old Trig class,
Which a few fellows take and fewer pass,
"Doc" Fleet said: "Now don't you laugh,
For this lesson is in a darn old graph:
So just get a paper and don't do it wrong,
For you've all gotta sing and this is the song:

Plot the graph of the cosine X,
It is one of the maculine sex;
Start in at a and go to b ,
Then turn around and back to c ,
Then start in on the sine of y ;
Do it right, nor ask the reason why.
When that's done then do the next,
But sing the song of the cosine x .

N. B.—And so the boys did it, and the above was the result. Whadde you know about it?

HORSES.

Yes, this is a horse. It is not the one that stood before the walls of ancient Troy. It is, however, of classic origin, finding its habitat commonly in our institutions of learning. Here it is generally known as the Latinum Auxiliarum. Some of its owners take a ride on their Horse at 8:30 and a shot at their Horace at 9:30.

You ask me why he has wings? Is he Pegasus? Neigh, neigh, (note the horsy flavor), he merely accompanies the boys on flights of imagination, imagining that they understand Latin. But you can always tell a jockey—he has a straw-ng odor of "stalling."

I. Chronicles

CHAPTER 1.

The Gathering of the Multitude.

IN the days of our Lord, the year 1915, the ninth month, the people returned unto Jewell, the seat of Learning and Wisdom. And it came to pass that the chief of the Doctors of Divinity and Philosophy arose in the chapel and spake unto the multitude, saying, Ye know that this people which hath been gone these many days returneth and bringeth hither the greenest of the green; prepare ye, therefore, O Doctors and Teachers, your fullest cups of patience and long-suffering, for these wooden-heads will try the patience of Job. But there be many whose hearts shall be turned to wisdom, whereas many others shall fall by the wayside. And the number of the Doctors murmured their assent.

CHAPTER 2.

Exchange of Money—Newly Born Hard Pressed—Nieman Saturated.

Now the days for the receiving of the people by the Scribes were from the 16th to the 18th of the 9th month. At which appointed and prearranged time the people did exchange gold and silver and bits of paper for perishable goods, yea, they did exchange for food, lodging, books, and nominal fees.

And it came to pass in the dead of the night that a certain band of Sophomores headed by Nieman the slender, did go and entertain certain of the Freshmen, taking much care to begin amusements by binding their hands with shackles of hemp and oxhide.

But lo and behold! at the news of this dark and sinister deed the Freshmen did rage for vengeance, and likewise the Sophomores did prance for the continuance of battle.

Then arose the chief before the multitude saying, Verily, ye are a backbiting and restless people, crying for conquest and spoils. Prepare ye, therefore, all your padded clothing and rough skins, for tomorrow ye shall settle this matter which keepeth us all in turmoil.

Then verily the throng did arise and sing, The Fight is On; and thence they proceeded to procure a cable of hemp, and on the next day did array themselves by class on either side of the pond, according as they were Freshmen or Sophomores.

Then verily they did lay to and pull mightily; but behold, the Freshmen did overcome the Sophomores and did draw them into the depths of the water. And it came to pass in the victory that a great Sophomore called Nieman was pulled into the pond and did sink as lead, because of his great weight; but as he sank he did cry aloud to his friends and they saved his life. Thus did end all the uproar and bitterness, and peace reigneth betwixt the Freshmen and Sophomores even unto this day.

CHAPTER 3.

Jewell Hall of Fame Established in Athletics.

It also came to pass in those days that one "Dad," surnamed Bowles, stood up in the faculty row, saying, Lo! we have held K. U. to a count of but 20 and it shall go hard with our opponents this year. For we are exceeding strong: our line and our backfield, yea, they are strong and mighty. Neither am I a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but again I say unto you, it shall go hard with our foes in the Conference this year.

Then the people did clamor to their Doctors, saying, Because of our greatness, therefore shall we have yells, and it is meet that we should have a yell leader. Then the chief of the people, called "Dutch," did declare an election and the people took unto themselves a yell leader, one David (the same was well known for the great chasm in the foreground of his face). And there was much and lusty yelling.

CHAPTER 4.

Great Victories for Jewell and the Elders.

Now it came to pass in the course of time that the words of "Dad" fell true. And they that were vanquished were: Tarkio, Central, Westminster, Kirksville, and Drury.

Now it so happened that the day which same was the day of the victory over them of Tarkio was a day long to be remembered in William Jewell. For it was on that same day that a certain Schwamb, he that was chief of the Freshmen, did arise in the midst of the people and read the document, inscribed on other pages of this bible, to the effect that the Freshmen were mightier than the Seniors. And when this same did cease to read the people did mightily applaud.

But lo! it came to pass that the aforesaid chief and all his band were vanquished by Farrar and his followers, the Seniors. Many others there were who flocked to the support of the Seniors. And in the course of events it came to pass that Happy Day did get baptized three times and Chief Schwamb was meek and lowly lest he should suffer likewise and more also.

CHAPTER 5.

Great Examination of Multitude.—Strauss, Lantz, and Nelson Verily Flunk.

In the year of our Lord 1915, the twelfth month, certain of the D.D.s did arise in chapel before the multitude, saying, Ye are aware of the fact that the great trials and tribulations are at hand; therefore prepare, all ye that wish to pass through unscathed.

And it came to pass that certain of the multitude verily did cram and wrestle with knowledge. Even Boliver Hunter and Captain Farrar labored by day and toiled by night. But behold! the trials and tribulations did come as a strong wind and many there were who did not stand. Great students like Arthur Strauss, Poop Lantz and Prof. L. E. Nelson did faint and fall by the wayside, and many others there were who did likewise.

Verily great was the moaning. In the midst of their desperation Lantz took seven chews of Granger Twist and Nelson did raise his hands in supplication, saying, O Doctor, let this cup pass from me. Strauss said nothing but swore softly to himself. But it so happened that Irish Farrar and Ray Ewing burned much incense and the gods were kind to them in the midst of tribulation, but there were many who did lament and mourn bitterly, even to revenge upon their professors.

II. Chronicles

CHAPTER 1.

Debate and Oratory Artists Indulge in Annual Wind-Jam.—Granny Ewing Wins for Jewell.

When the first snows of the Winter whitened the earth and the fulness thereof, it verily happened that the Philomathic and likewise the Excelsior tribes of Jewell did set themselves in opposing array for their annual Bull-Fest.

Now it came to pass that a certain Philomathic youth surnamed Wherritt did lift his voice and utter strange words unto the multitude assembled. On the same occasion an Excelsior named Faulkner did lift his harmonious voice to the Judges, saying unto them, Hear ye, O Judges, and hearken to wisdom, our opponents be a mere hob-glob conglomeration.

But behold! the gods were good to Wherritt and the first of the laurels were voted to him; but the army of the Exes, rising above the defeat of their leader, did hold the field at the close of battle, and mighty was the shout of the tribe of the Exes for Wallace and Roberts, and that of the Phils for Wherritt.

Now the greatest of the hot-air merchants and artists was a lad named Granny Ewing. Lustily he had contended in the casting of the lots, and behold! he was proven the eloquent darling of Fortune.

In the early days of the blustery month which the Gentiles call March, Ewing did bear the shield of Jewell valiantly in battle, yea, he did stand against the chosen of the seekers of learning in the state, and did vie with them, and he overcame them all, gaining the mastery in the presence of the multitude.

CHAPTER 2.

Preparedness Movement in Realm of Faculty Cradle.

Now it came to pass in the gray days of the Winter that crying wants were filled in the family cradles of the professors, yea, even additions were made thereunto.

Thus did it happen that a certain Professor of Modern Languages did arise in chapel to expound to the people his theories against race suicide. Glibly and volubly he spake, saying, That he was not on the trail of one named Martini which had 13 striplings in his flock, nor did he wish to discourage one Dr. Tukey nor yet Dad Bowles, which had only one, for this was his third.

Yea, verily, there was a method to his madness, and he would thus fall into the preparedness movement to obtain peace, even peace at any price.

CHAPTER 3.

Psychology of Preparedness Operates on Suggestible Minds and Corks.

Now the deluge of the preparedness agitation did fail to have the right psychological effect on Professors Nelson and Hill, but verily did kindle a flame in the suggestible mind and heart of one Doctor Sutherland. And it came to pass that he betook himself to the Orpheum (as interpreted in the annals of the Yellow Student) and did elope with the Venus-like danseuse, Gertrude Hoffman.

But lo! the Lord did send an angel unto him in the person of Doctor Fruit, and the angel did wrestle with him on the plains of Birmingham, eight hours did he wrestle with him with all his wits. And behold! the angel of the Lord did overcome and did rescue the mighty Sociologist, yea, he did save him from the toils of Dan Cupid, and the wiles of the great city were rendered of none effect.

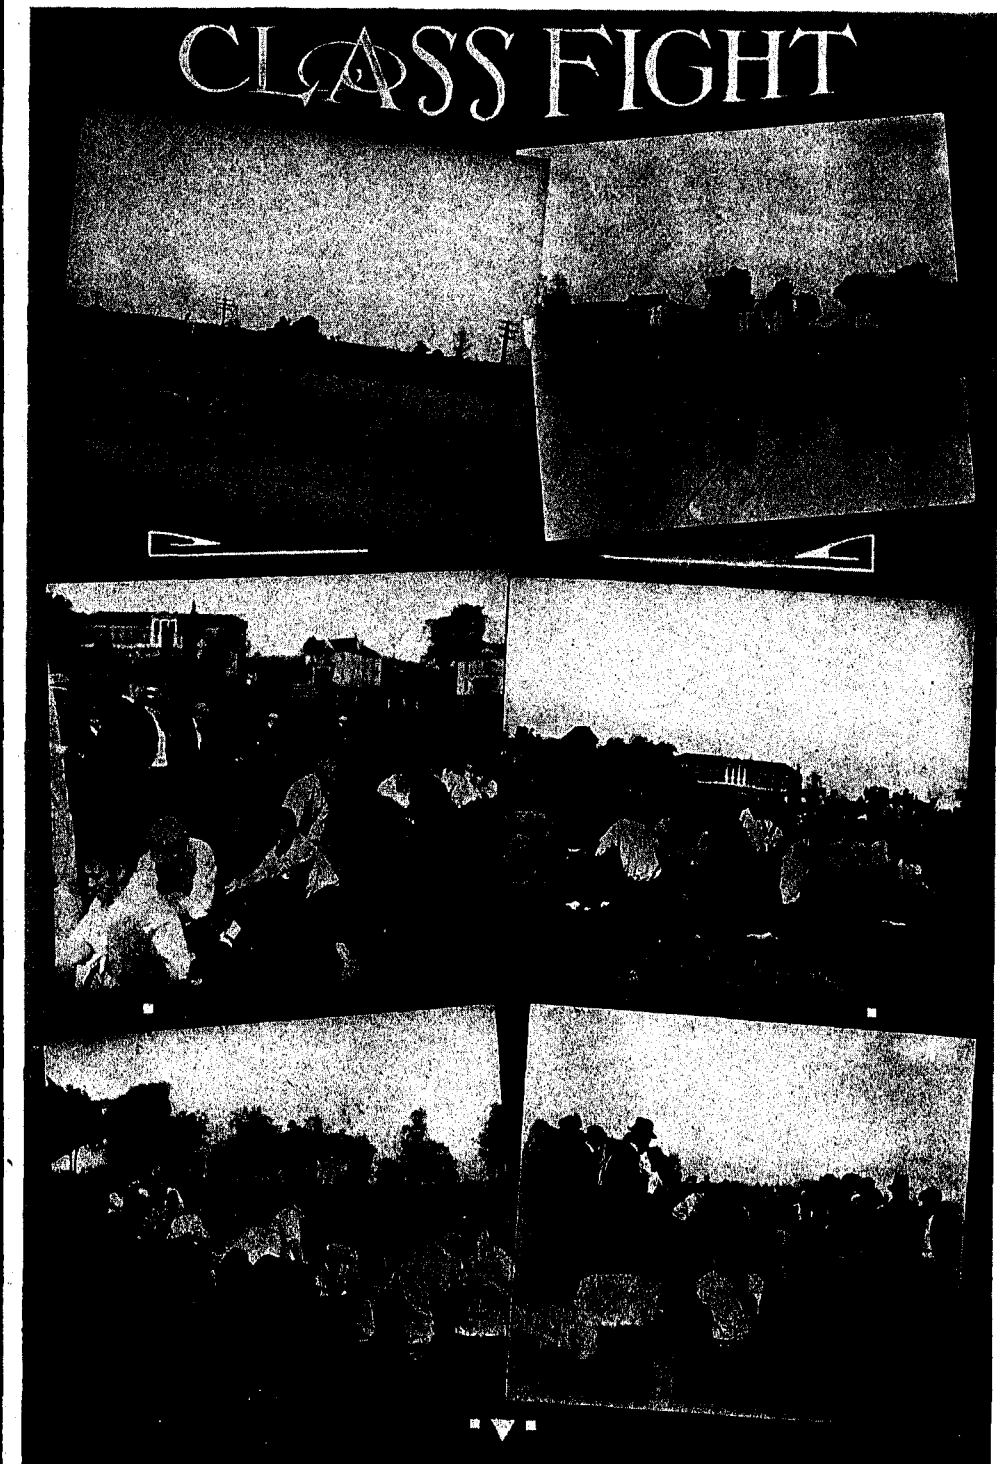

But lo! as the Doctors returned to the hill they did find great turmoil and uproar in the midst of the Doctors and the multitude. For verily the rains had descended, the floods had come, and the Chemistry corks did float, yea, they did float in mockery up to the gates. Thus it was come about that the Doctors returning found Hal Head, the all-wise editor of the Student, on his knees before a certain of the Doctors, crying, O Doctor, give me a solution to stop these stoppers.

CHAPTER 4.

Great Victory for Messenger of the Lord.—The Multitude Suffereth a Change of Heart.

Now it came to pass that the Lord shewed mercy unto his people and did send them a messenger to turn them from their wickedness and worldly ways. And the messenger bore a name of fame and renown for his power in the Lord, and his name was Dad Elliott. And he was mighty in his work for the Lord. His strong personality did drive his messages home to the hearts of the people, yea, he did preach with conviction.

After the spirit of the Lord had pervaded the camp of the Jewells, there were many of the multitude which did suffer a change of heart, and every Jewell felt the presence of the Lord. Many of their old habits they did discard, many of their obscene pictures they did burn, yea, even unto September Morn, and thereafter righteousness did reign in the camp of the Jewells.

The Senior Proclamation

Which Led to Their Submarine Policy.

Dr. Greene, Members of the Faculty, Men of the College, Ladies and Gentlemen, and any others who may be present:

This uncounted multitude before me proclaims that the day, the deed, and the purpose of our assembling have made a deep impression on our hearts.

If indeed there be anything in local association fit to affect the mind of men, we need not strive to repress the emotions which agitate us here. We stand on ground that has been distinguished by our fathers by their constancy, their efforts, and their devotion to the cause of education—that here in Liberty, in William Jewell, there might be an institution, here in the geographical center of America, that will be a monument and a tribute to Christian civilization.

"There is a principle," said Herbert Spencer, "which is a bar against all information, which will keep a man in everlasting ignorance. That principle is a contempt prior to investigation." Therefore, hear us. The day has a comic and serious import.

Whereas, Dr. Jewell with great vision planted William Jewell;

Whereas, We live in such an extraordinary age that events which might crown and distinguish centuries are compressed within a student generation;

Whereas, The present Senior class has attained the full stature of educational manhood;

Whereas, The class tells something of the remarkable history and progress of William Jewell;

Whereas, In the course of human events it becomes necessary to dissolve the juvenile bonds which bind us here, and to enter the academy of the learned and to declare our principles, and

Whereas, The grave and reverend Senior class of 1916 have adopted the derby and cane as official insignia:

Be it Resolved, By the imperial and august class of 1916 that all students below the class of '16 are prohibited from wearing on the campus between the rising and the setting of the sun such insignia, and

Be it Further Resolved, That all infractions of the aforesaid act shall be dealt with in such a manner as the class shall decide;

Be it Further Resolved, That in the execution of this imperious imposition of the will of the Senior class, the class by its compact and unalterable resolve on this auspicious Anno Domini November 19, 1915, has pledged its life, fortune and sacred honor, whereunto we herewith have appended our signatures.

If I were not a student, I'll be bound,
To the show I would go—
But I am.

II.—A LA "PAT" MURPHY:

If I were not a student
I'd devise something wise
To crush the argument of work;

Golden fancies in my brain do lurk
Of a toilless future state—
If I were not a student (luckless fate!)
Something wise I'd devise—
But I am.

III.—A LA "PEACHES" HUGHES:

If I were not a student
I would see, believe me,
The workings of this maudlin world;
How its forces contra se are hurled
Down the dusky Hall of Time;
If I were not a student (truth sublime)
Believe me I would see—
But I am.

Sun Yat Sen at William Jewell

(Being a letter from the great dignitary to a friend in China.)

Liberty, Missouri, March 15, 1916.

Dear Hong Kong Chu:

Me having duties lain sideways come William Jewell education get in English tongue and also speech. Many interesting thing suffer here.

First Doctor Fleet, he arraign me to classify. Tell him me ex-President great scope of country; then he scowl and look cannibalistic but finally set me down on Freshman book. He all time talk hard study; too much flunk 'em; no respect great men like me and Professor Nelson.

Student body among got lots of comedians. Nieman, he look like old woman—very fat and corpuscule; talk like suffragette, but never dictate worth while anything, so is always took insincere.

Funny thing chapel one day happen. Fred White—he member of brass band—he rise 'em up and say students better pay carfare to band for Kansas City. Students like insinuation not a little, but afterwards pay. That one great danger at William Jewell—all time pay some money.

One day David lead 'em students on rampage throughout the town and break 'em up play for High School. Him son Solomon too wise to be led so badly stray. David too see he made 'em mistake, decides reinvestigate self and much improve during period of long silence and comparative absence.

Then Happy Day start 'em out one day direct whole school. First he have 'em proclamation read at chapel, threaten throw away green cap in ponds or other remote resort and hence embroil Seniors. Whereas several Seniors rise 'em up and subjugate Freshmen, baptizing those who disbelieve. Happy himself get splash in pond greatly twice.

Well, I must have to close. Give me permission to assert finally that me very proud of great Freshman class, not standing with Happy and green caps episode, and however freaks, me excessively joyful and sentimental in William Jewell life.

Yours truly friend,

Sun Yat Sen

P.S.—Me not got precisely exact masterpiece English style, you see, but me copy upon Jimmie Bell and soon get direct. He full-bread English and mighty sufficient.—S. Y. S.

A Proclamation

To the egotistical Seniors, the proud dads of new mustaches, lend your dull ears, open your dreamy eyes, and behold the invincible class of '19, and hear their reply to your meaningless proclamation of September 21, 1915.

Whereas, Nature is partial to the colors she has ordained for the different seasons; and

Whereas, The green is in harsh contrast with the natural brown and sere of the Autumn; and

Whereas, The stalwart, brawny Freshmen are men of ruddy hue; and

Whereas, Custom is made to be followed by the unprogressive only;

Whereas, The Freshman class of 1915 has broken all precedents as to number; and

Whereas, Being sons of our American fathers and believing in a more pure democracy, and refusing to be fettered by the antiquated customs of our gentle predecessors;

Therefore, be it Decreed, and entered on the records of our precedent-breaking and precedent-making class that on and after 12 M., o'clock, October 15, 1915, no Freshman shall disfigure his noble head with the "cap of verdant hue" prescribed by the self-admiring Seniors of the class of '16—no more, forever.

Be it Further Decreed, That any and all Seniors who make any warlike advances to the sturdy Freshmen shall be given a dry shave, paddled in unison by the strong hand of the class of '19 and pushed aside into his natural place of insignificance.

If, therefore, the Seniors would prove their boasted knowledge, let them remember that a hint to the wise is sufficient.

(Signed) Freshman Class

An Apology

To the honorable Seniors in particular and the student body in general: Grant to us the privilege of making this sincere, voluntary apology and statement as to the class of '19.

Whereas, In our proclamation of October 15th, in attempting to create only merriment and class spirit; and

Whereas, We now realize that we have sounded too bold a note and made a serious infraction of college customs and traditions; and

Whereas, In the inexperience of youth we have committed a more grievous offense than we anticipated or ever would have committed had we been more mature in our judgment;

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we seek this early opportunity of assuring you that we are loyal "Jewells" and that we in no wise meant to assail the sacred and time-honored customs of our beloved Alma Mater, and that we pledge ourselves anew to loyally support all customs, traditions and precedents given us by our worthy predecessors; and

Be it Further Resolved, That we revise the immortal Shakespeare to read, "Oh, Frailty, thy name is Freshmen," and that with meek and honest sincerity we realize that we are but mere Freshmen; and even though our inexperienced feet have stumbled, we humbly ask that you despise us not, remembering that your feet once trod an unbeaten path, and remember that in the bigger issue of building a life we have a common purpose, and that we may pursue this common task with a fraternal spirit, for, as Abraham said to Lot, "We be brethren."

Done this 18th day of October, by order of the class and by the same committee which issued the incautious proclamation of October 15th.

A Diamond in the Rough

By A. L. Lantz.

Baseball is a funny game—with just a ball and bat,
A mask, a glove, a pair o'shoes, a cap instead of a hat,
A sleeveless shirt, and sawed-off pants, stockings long and loud,
A diamond made of sawdust bags, a grandstand and some crowd.
An umpire with an armament, a mask through which to spit,
A pitcher and a catcher, and seven who can hit;
With a little bit o' sunshine, a sweetheart in the stand—
It's a funny situation, but it's nothing short o' grand.

Now you take your place out there at third, or short, or first;
And everybody's hollerin' as if they're 'bout to burst:
You pass the pill around the horn like the coach has taught you to,
And never make a bobble—just like you knowed you'd do.
The sweat begins to pourin' down your back an' legs an' face
And you feel the most important man around about the place.
Jes' take away your quintette and inflated pigskin 'leven,
And give me plain old baseball—real foretaste of heaven.

The fans are all a-yellin' for their hero—that means you—
The band is playin' ragtime 'at jes' th'ills yuh through and through,
And the coach is awful nervous an' looks so big an' tall
As from the bench he scans the lot ('spectin' you to do it all).
You feel the pressure of 'is eyes upon you as you try
To nab each ball 'at comes your way, on sod or on the fly—
A nasty hop, (the bases full!) you scoop it with one hand:
The angels up in heaven drown out the college band.

And when your side comes up to bat—great golly, what a test!
Every eye is fixed upon you an' you want to do your best;
The pitcher seems a giant, 'bout twenty feet away,
Your feet are glued to mother earth as though they're there to stay;
A sort o' hazy, dusty mist is in your battin' eye,
Your arms are weak and tremly an' your throat is burnin' dry;
The band an' all is silent, the pitcher winds up—Gee!
First base looks a mile away, the ball looks like a pea.

You can talk about Napoleon in Egypt, or on the Rhine—
San Juan Hill, Manila, or dear ole Brandywine—
But there's no place more important, or tryin' too, for that
Than when the bags are loaded an' you are at the bat.
You look aroun' an' see the crowd, the coach with beggin' look
An' sympathizin' voice yells out, "Old boy, watch the hook!"
There's your cue, you set yourself, the sun turns on more shine—
The tintinnabulations of your anxious heart won't rhyme.

Your arms are full o' growin' pep, the pitcher hurls the ball,
The crowd stands up of one accord to watch it scan the wall.
You are carried on the shoulders of a dozen happy boys
Whose cup to overflowin' you have filled with countless joys.
Yes, baseball's more 'an a funny game with just a ball and bat,
A mask, a glove, a pair o' shoes, a cap instead of a hat,
A sleeveless shirt, and sawed-off pants, stockings long and loud,
A diamond made o' sawdust bags, a grandstand and some crowd.

MAC" McTodd never had liked the Tia Juana country. And now that an unkind fate had left him horseless, waterless and foodless, starving upon its barren stretches, he cursed it even more vehemently. "The devil's own making," he muttered, "and God's country just beyond the horizon." He lay where he had fallen, looking across the burning stretches for a welcome horseman. He saw none. Suddenly he propped himself on one weak arm.

"Jove!" he cried, "a man—a man." But he fell back again on the hot sand—it was only a giant cactus that had reared itself in human form.

McTodd had graduated from college ten years ago. Five successful years on his ranch had followed. Then the flood—and the loss of his home, his fortune and Marie. Marie was his wife. And she had perished in the flood. Then he took to mining, mainly because a pick and shovel and a cayuse were obtainable. Since then life had become monotonous. Only two days before he had heard of a rich strike in the San Gorgonio region and had headed that way.

With his horse ahead, heavily packed, he had been threading his way along the narrow trail, when the pony slipped, lost its footing and fell headlong over the cliff. With his "grub," water and compass gone he had attempted to "beat it back" to civilization, but had failed. Today had found him in a trackless waste. Alkali water and cactus pears were not exactly the proper nourishment for an ordinary mortal. And the sun was unbearable. He was jammed in between the sky and the earth, there was no way to escape, and a merciless heat was parching his skin and sapping the very life-blood from his veins. He closed his bloodshot eyes to shut out the scene. The sun gradually sank—a fiery ball in the West. Later the moon rose like a ghost in the East and shed an uncanny light over the pale sand-dunes. His throat burned; his lips bled. Words came to him—meaningless and incoherent.

In the midst of his babbling came a sound across the desert—faint at first, then strong. It was someone half singing, half shouting: "Hail then to W. and J.; Hail to old '06." Louder it came, but McTodd was unable to shout. Gasps came from his parched throat, but the stranger did not hear. He was passing on. McTodd fell back on the sand, exhausted. His hand rested on his holster. Quick as a flash he let loose two shots from his Colt into the night air. The traveler's horse quickened its step. (He had scared him away!—No, he was approaching!)

The other man took in the situation at a glance. Quickly he tore his canteen from his saddle-bag and pressed it to McTodd's quivering lips. And "Mac" drank it—he gulped it; oceans it seemed to him. And then everything went blank.

It was light when he awoke, and the stranger was frying bacon on a little fire. To McTodd from where he lay wrapped in the stranger's blanket it seemed as the aroma of Araby. He watched the other's movements in silence.

"Morning, pard." (This from the stranger. "Pretty bad fix you were in when I found you. How did it happen?")

"Mac" recounted the story of his loss.

"I was about gone when I heard you singing." He stopped. "By the way, what was that you were singing?"

The other was strapping the pack on his sorrel pony.

"Singing? That—oh, that was our class ode at W. and J. I graduated in the class of '06, you know."

"And your name—may I ask that?" "Mac" was staring heavenward.

"Barnett, Cliff Barnett. What's yours, my friend?"

"Mac" turned away.

"McTodd, 'Mac' McTodd—of old '06."

It was exam week at W. and J. The class of '06 was already preparing for commencement. Cliff Barnett was strolling across the campus when a passer-by brought him out of his reverie.

"How about it, Cliff, going to get through Chem?"

"Oh, I guess I'll crawl through, McTodd. A pipe for you, I guess?"

"Dunno; pretty stiff, pretty stiff—so they say."

"Well, it's our last hurdle anyway. So-long."

That night Cliff was cramming. "Hang it all," he muttered. "I've gone and left that notebook at the lab. Guess I'd better beat it over and get it."

So he pulled on his coat and hat and strode over to the Chemistry Building. The door was open. He stopped. Leaning over the Doctor's desk was the figure of a man. He heard a key turned in a drawer and then silence. He dropped behind the door. Footsteps approached, passed by and on. As the man went through the door the light from the arc fell on his face. It was McTodd!

"Well, old boy, I guess it will be a pipe for you." This to himself. Then he got his notebook and passed out into the evening air.

"Good evening, Barnett."

Cliff stopped on the steps. It was Dr. Harrison, the Chem. professor.

"Evening, Doctor; just getting my notebook."

Each paused a moment and passed on.

Barnett was "on the carpet."

"I wish you would make a statement, Barnett," the prexy was saying.

"Nothing further, Doctor."

The President put out his hand:

"Then, good-day, Barnett."

Cliff stumbled out into the summer sunshine. He threw himself on the grass and gazed up into the cloudless sky. The things that might have been went hurtling off into space. He "cussed"—a little.

"If only McTodd had been man enough to come across with the truth. It would 'a been mighty hard, though, and him getting five thousand from the governor when he graduates and a girl promising to marry him next week. I don't believe I'd have told, either, if I were in his shoes."

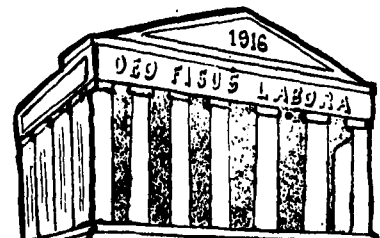

It was a terrible blow to Cliff. He was all alone in the world. He left for the West that noon. "Too bad," everybody said. And then he was forgotten.

"So you're McTodd, eh?" The saddle-bag fell from Cliff's hands to the ground. A fire sprang into his eyes, and his jaw took a determined set. Here was the man who had nipped his career in the bud. Here was the man who had stood between him and a big position. Here was the man who had graduated, sacrificing his classmate's future on an unholy altar.

"So you're McTodd. Huh!" Cliff shook himself, paused a moment, then went forward determinedly. He put out his hand to the prostrate form.

"Come on, old man. You ride behind me. We got to hurry to get to San Pablo by noon and the water is about gone."

But "Mac" did not move. His face was in the sand. Barnett lifted him to a sitting position. He drew back quickly. The other fell limp on the sand. * * * A buzzard above, idly flapped its wings and passed on. The blot on the scutcheon of old '06 was no more:

Ode At Parting

By Frederick Allen Sykes

Classmates, once more we ascend to the shrine,
Weaving the laurel and amarynth vine,
Calling to mind as the tale that is told
The deeds that were done and victories won
In olden days, in golden days—the Halcyon days of old.

The mystic veil is rent and in the firmament
Flung to the breeze a device is seen,
"Deo Fides Labora." Hail to Old Sixteen.

The perfume of incense is floating above,
Invoking the gods to witness our love
As votive we gather and kneel at the altar.
'Tis the fest where Life with Hope is wed;
So play again the lute! Strike again the psalter!
Mind not the cortege of a Youth that is dead!
See above the legend in an unknown hand,
"Deo Fides Labora." Hail ye nuptial hand!

The ivy will crumble in onslaughts of years,
The past will be buried, enshrouded in tears;
The sacred bond is broken and the rose as its token
Is scattered afar on an amethyst sea.
The fragrance is gone but the soul is eternal
As mem'ry of solemn vows fraternal.
So launch the golden barque with purple sails unfurled,

"Deo Fides Labora." By this conquer the world!

Jewell

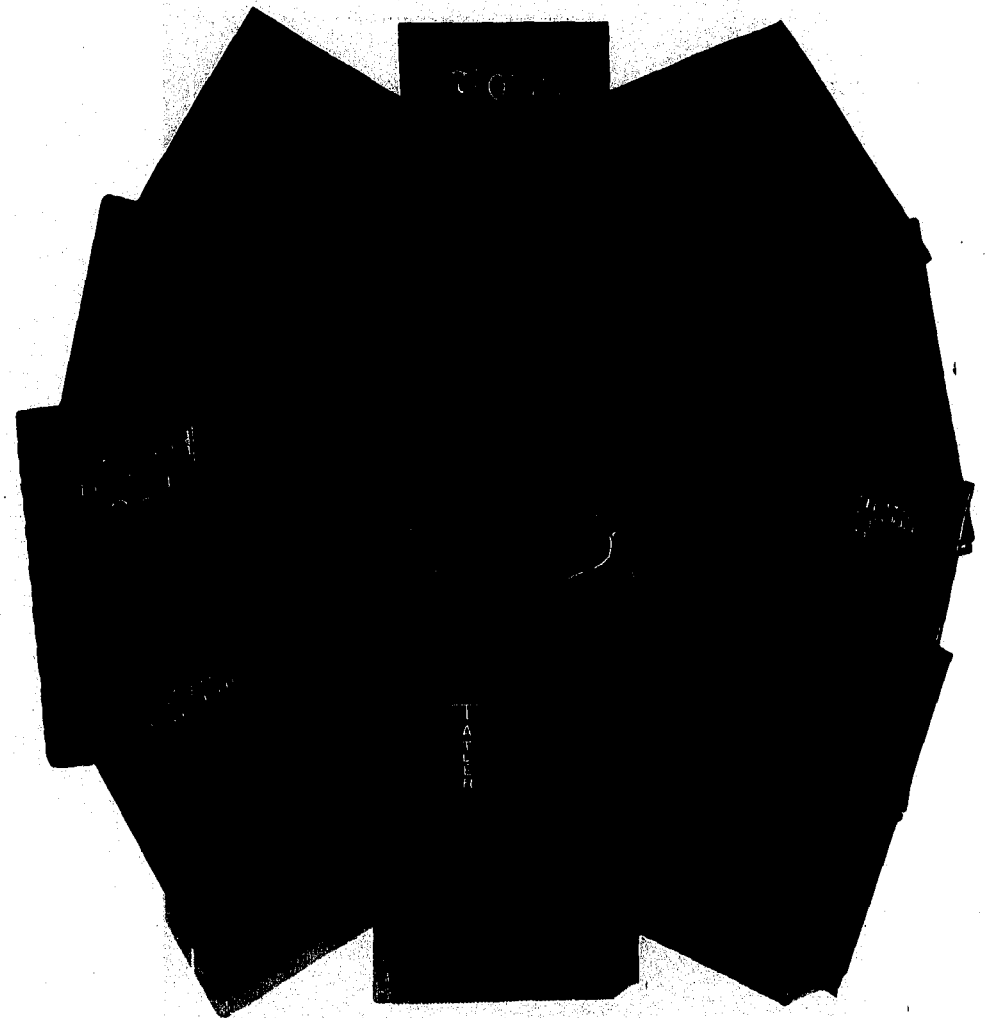

Thy crown, O Jewell, is not of gold,
 As crowns the heads of kings;
 A loom thine own a crown doth weave,
 Of fortune, fame and love.
 The heads that wear thy priceless gem,
 Along the wayside paths,
 Seek not a throng of idle ease,
 But service where there's care.
 The fountains of thy deathless fame
 In beaded ripples rise
 From heart and brain of noble men
 Who toil within thy walls.—
 Our lives we pledge, O Jewell, to thee,
 Thy manly course to aid;
 And when we're out from thy halls
 We'll mind, lest we forget.

—B. F. Gray.

Clothes vs. Men

YOUNG fellows, the first important thing in starting out in this life to make a place for yourself is your personal appearance. You men must command respect in order to get an audience upon the proposition you wish to present. Don't neglect your dress—it plays a far more important part in your success than you realize. Your appearance paves the way for you.

COLUMBIA, MISSOURI

FULLY ACCREDITED as a Junior College by the University of Missouri and other standard institutions. Since its standardization as a Junior College in 1912, Stephens has shown the following remarkable increase in educational standards:

The number of graduates from the literary department has increased 227 per cent.

The number of students matriculating from accredited high schools has increased 200 per cent.

One-fifth of the students in the literary department are honor graduates from accredited four-year high schools.

Over 92 per cent of the class of 1915 are teaching or are enrolled in Senior Colleges.

The enrollment for 1915-1916 shows an increase of over 180 per cent over the enrollment for 1912-13. (Eighty-five per cent of present enrollment are graduates of accredited four-year high schools.)
